Albany, N. Y., March 20.—(P)—Governor Al Smith tonight characterized as "demagogic slander" statements made during the senate com-scandal that Harry F. Sinclair had been a heavy contributor to his gubernatorial campaign since 1920. In a letter to Chairman Gerald P. Nye, of the Teapot Dome committee, Governor Smith declared that "a careful search of the official records made at my request today confirmed my recollection that Mr. Sinclair never contributed to my campaign fund either in 1920 or at any other time that I ever ran for office; in fact, I failed of election as governor in 1920.

and Mr. Sinclair had been appointed to the racing commission months prior to that election, some four years before there was any thought of the oil scandal.

"I do not propose that either you or Senator Robinson, of Indiana," the governor continued, "shall escape public humiliation for the infamous insinuations that you have made by your pretense of disclaiming desire to cast reflection on me or stating that your committee has no concern with the matter."

letter, word was brought to him that Mr. Sinclair had contributed on one occasion to a democratic campaign fund in New York state. The contribution, made in 1918 to the New York county democratic committee, amounted to $1,000, records in the secretary of state's office disclosed.

State Robert Moses of contributions to the governor's personal campaign funds failed to disclose any mention of Mr. Sinclair's name. The examination covered every available bit of data filed in the department of state and other state offices.

ever, that in 1922—the year that Nathan L. Miller opposed and was defeated by Governor Smith—Mr. Sinclair contributed $5,000 to the republican state committee. The payment was made, the records showed, to Anson C. Goodyear, treasurer of the state committee.

The text of the governor's letter follows:

"You are quoted in the daily papers this morning as having said yesterday on the floor of the senate, 'I do understand that in the campaign at which Governor Smith was elected, Mr. Sinclair was a very liberal contributor to his cause and that follow-

G.O.P. RESTRAINING ORDER DISSOLVED

An order restraining the fifth district republican convention from certifying the names of its newly-elected delegates was dissolved Tuesday by Judge Virgil B. Moore in Fulton superior court, following a hearing on the petition brought by Frank A. Doughman, Atlanta attorney and DeKalb delegate to the recent convention here.

On Doughman's petition, filed on March 6, a few days after the district convention met in the county courthouse, Judge Moore issued a temporary injunction prohibiting A. T. Welden, chairman, and William Driskell, secretary of the convention, from submitting the names of Clint W. Haver, federal district attorney, and Welden as delegates to the republican convention at Kansas City, June 22.

The plaintiff charged that the delegates were fraudulently elected; that the Fulton delegation was illegally seated, and illegally called. Doughman also contended that he and Mr. Hager were the nominees, but when the choice was announced Welden had been substituted in his place.

Doughman was said to be in court at Marietta when the case was called, and the judge declined to continue the hearing on the ground Doughman had secured a similar postponement some weeks ago.

FLIER IS KILLED IN PLANE CRASH AT SAN ANTONIO

San Antonio, Texas, March 20. (AP)—First Lieutenant William C. Williams, air corps reserve and a judge in Atlantic, Iowa, was instantly killed here today when his plane crashed into a telephone post near the second division air field at Fort Sam Houston.

'CLEAN UP' DRIVE PLANS ANNOUNCED

With city officials and civic leaders pledging their utmost cooperation, plans were outlined Tuesday for a week of intensive campaigning to make Atlanta "spick-and-span," beginning April 16. The meeting was held in the Chamber of Commerce building.

Mrs. J. R. Little, chairman of the civic committee of the Atlanta Woman's club, which is sponsoring "Clean-up and Paint-up" week, presided.

Included in the plans for the campaign will be a proclamation to be issued by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale. A parade from the Henry Grady monument, which will be cleaned to inaugurate the drive, will feature the movement of raw materials and finished goods to the public schools, Tuesday, and the full cooperation of the public schools and use of the Tech High band for the parade.

PELLEY PREDICTS PROSPERITY ERA

With Atlanta typifying the spirit of progressiveness in all constructive fields of business that pervade the south, the people of the country as a whole and of this section in particular, are confronted with a series of conditions that constitute the fundamentals of prosperity.

This was the opinion voiced Tuesday by J. J. Pelley, president of the Central of Georgia Railway company, before the regular meeting of the Atlanta Kiwanis club, in the Ansley hotel.

"The public has money, labor is more efficient, warehouses and dealers' shelves are emptying, manufacturers' inventories are reduced, and prices of raw materials and semi-finished goods are lower, money is plentiful and interest rates are low," the well-known railroad president pointed out in enumerating the existing elements at present marked commerce and industrial wealth for the near future.

AZALEA GARDENS AT THOMASVILLE TO OPEN SUNDAY

Thomasville, Ga., March 20.—(Special.)—The Azalea Gardens at Greenwood, magnificent winter estate of Mrs. Payne Whitney, of New York, located three miles from Thomasville on the Lone Star Trail, will be opened to the public Sunday, March 25.

The gates will be opened at 10 a. m., and the public admitted from that time until 6 p. m. From 2 to 6 o'clock there will be a musical program by the Thomasville band with a local negro quartet singing several numbers.

In addition to the azaleas at Greenwood, there are lovely and extensive beds of them at various horticultural gardens in and around Thomasville and visitors will also be welcomed at these points. The display at Greenwood this year is sponsored by the Thomasville post, American Legion, and they will divide such voluntary silver offering as may be made during the day with the local Associated Charities organization.

TWO NEGRO BURGLARS GIVEN PRISON TERMS

A. J. Wood, negro, convicted Tuesday of a burglary charge, was sentenced to from three to seven years by Judge E. E. Pomeroy, in Fulton superior court.

Wood was alleged to have stolen a pistol and overcoat from the home of James Williams, 520 Collier street, on the night of December 2.

Judge Pomeroy also sentenced Monroe Young, another alleged negro robber, to from four to six years following his conviction of stealing $25 from Forrest Holmes, 343 Markman street, on February 3.

Did You Read This in "Two Bells"?

Bread Wrapper Rides "Not for Cake Eaters"

"Not for cake eaters," says the Ottawa, Canada, Electric Railway News, when it observed the arrangement of Southern Grocery Stores, Inc., recently by which the Rogers Stores in Atlanta offered a street car ticket for two bread wrappers and a nickel.

Two Bells might reply by saying that few cake eaters are "bread" in this section of the country.

However, here's what Ottawa says: "The Southern Grocery Stores have made an arrangement in Atlanta, Georgia, so that any purchaser of their bread can obtain a street car ticket, of the value of 7½ cents, by presenting two wrappers from their bread accompanied by a nickel. Looks like our old friend, the exact fare, in a new role.

"Perhaps Trolley Polly, who is on a vacation, would grow lyric about this and write something like this:

"Bread and the trolley! Man and wife Require them both each day; For each is known as a staff of life To help folks on their way."

Own This New Custom and Commercial Sweet Feed Mill

You can now own and control, without fear of competition, the sweet feed and mixed poultry feed business in your community.

It is the biggest money making business with products in demand right now for your community in which you can engage and it is simple and easily understood. Without any experience you can make the same grade of sweet mixed and poultry feeds that are now shipped into your community at such a large profit. You can make sweet feeds cheaper than the big mills. We will furnish you with all of the formulas for making them and show you exactly how easily it is done.

For the first time in history you can do a custom sweet feed business. You can make sweet feed out of your customers' grain at the same time you are making out of the advantage of making sweet feeds for your customers out of their home grown grains.

Two great inventions make this possible.

The Miracle Ace Hammer Mill is one, and on account of its cast rubber rotor and heavy 24-pound head corrugated steel hammers is the most efficient kind of mill for grinding snap corn, ear corn, oats, cutmossed hulls, hay or any other kind of feed. These improvements enable this mill to operate with half of the power of other mills, which means that much more profit.

The Miracle Ace Hammer Mill is built in seven sizes and in both belt and direct motor drive.

The Miracle Cold Molasses Process is the other thing that has made it possible to run a custom sweet feed mill. It is the new invention that has created more interest in feed making than anything in 50 years.

It is a simple process and easily understood and controlled, for putting cold molasses on feeds. No heating required. No skill is necessary.

You make three profits on custom feed milling. First, the profit on grinding your customer's feed; second, the profit on the molasses you sell him, and, third, the profit for mixing the molasses with his feed. You make over 2½ times the profit any other feed miller can make who does not have the molasses process, and it is all done at one time.

Profits that you can make: With an average sized MIRACLE ACE HAMMER MILL, you can grind 2,000 pounds of feed in 30 minutes, and for which you get 15¢ per hundred, or $3; then if your customer wants, say 25% molasses on this feed, you will make $5 on this sale; then this 2,000 pounds of feed is to be mixed together, for which you get 10¢ per hundred, or $2.50, making a total of $10.50 profit for your 30 minutes' work—and it is all done at the same time. With a large size plant operating most of the day it is possible to make a profit of $100 per day. No other legitimate business within the reach of the average man can offer such profits as this new sweet feed business.

The Miracle Cold Molasses Process is the greatest invention and the most forward step ever made in feed making. It now enables every community to have its own sweet feed plant.

Think of this for a high grade business, one that you would be proud to own. There is nothing like it; there is nothing that will bring you in so much net profit each day on your investment and your time. It is the biggest money maker at which you ever had a chance.

Miracle Ace Hammer Mills and Miracle Molasses Processes are always sold on free trial. Send at once for our two booklets describing both the mill and process. One is, "THE MIRACLE ACE HAMMER MILL," and the other is "THE MIRACLE MOLASSES PROCESS." Both are free and we will be glad to send either or both to you on request.

Smith Retains Advantage Over All Other Candidates For Democratic Nomination

Selection of Delegates by Committee Instead of Primary Aids Him—No Change in Sentiment.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

Washington, March 20.—Any well-based summary of what is happening among local democratic leaders throughout the country must record that the signs point increasingly toward the nomination of Governor Smith of New York. It should be added that the leaders who oppose Smith, and especially the women among them, are as quietly determined as ever and as calmly confident that they will have much more than the number of delegates necessary to veto the nomination of the New York governor.

The chief reason for the acclamations of strength picked up for Smith has no relation to any change in popular sentiment. There is no record of any community or group of voters who have changed their position from anti-Smith to pro-Smith, or from dry to wet. The true reason for Smith's acclamations of delegates and potential delegates lies in the extreme degree to which delegates this year are being chosen, not by the voters through primaries, but by leaders in informal conferences.

In community after community where a great majority of the democrats are dry, delegates are being chosen who will vote for Smith.

Delegates favorable to Smith are being chosen by local democratic leaders who are themselves dry. The motive animating these local leaders all come down to one. That is the assurance given these leaders and the belief held by them, whether correctly or not, that if Smith is the democratic candidate he can carry New York state, which has not given a democratic majority in a presidential election since 1928. The local leaders in the west think that if Smith can carry New York against the republicans that will give the party a real chance to win in the country as a whole.

Public Counted Out.

This disposition to accept Smith is accelerated by the revelations about oil scandals. Logically these revelations would seem to suggest the nomination one of the two men who have been conspicuous in exposing corruption, Senator Walsh of Missouri, and Senator Reed of Missouri. It was on this assumption that Reed made his recent campaign in the west and will make another in the south. Actually the reasoning of local democratic leaders takes a different direction. They have begun to think, for the first time as a rule, that the oil scandals may give the democrats a chance to win. From this they pass to concluding that the best way to perfect that chance is to nominate the one man who holds out some promise of carrying New York into the democratic column.

Such reasoning would not move the electorate as much as it does party leaders; but it is the party leaders who are selecting the bulk of the delegates. In Louisiana, for example, the delegates to the democratic national convention have been chosen by a few men who dominate the state committee, without any reference to county conventions, or even a state convention and must be less to a popular primary. The delegates in this southern state were picked to support Smith, which would hardly have happened through any expression of popular sentiment. Another reason moving some leaders to accept Smith is fear of their own future if they oppose him. It is difficult to get state leaders to stand as favorite sons against Smith. It is argued that anyone who undertakes this role will be marked by the democrats of New York and the east and will be prevented from ever having any future chance for the presidential nomination.

The degree to which popular sentiment determines the selection of delegates to the democratic nomination is less than in any other presidential year during a generation. In only three states out of the 48 will there be a conclusive test, through popular primaries, with Smith entered against candidates representing other sentiments. These are California, Oregon and South Dakota. It is argued that if in these states there should be a convincing demonstration of anti-Smith strength, it might be accepted as a warning of what would happen in the election. It is claimed especially that if Walsh should be strong in these primaries he would be likely to be strong in the convention.

GOVERNOR AL SMITH SCORED BY PREACHER

Dr. H. C. Morrison, noted educator, pastor and widely-known evangelist, of Houston, Tuesday night scored modern youth for its "wild and unrestrained tendencies and Tammany Hall for its political domination of New York" in a sermon delivered at the St. Paul Methodist church, where he is conducting a two weeks' revival service.

Attacking Governor Al Smith as the agent of Tammany Hall, declaring that his election to the presidency would mean a blow to the moral and spiritual forces in America, Dr. Morrison assailed high government officials "who wink at sin."

He spoke to one of the largest audiences which has attended the services since the meetings were begun Sunday morning, and will speak again at 10 o'clock this morning and at 7:30 o'clock tonight. W. T. Timms, prominent Atlanta business man, is leading the singing.

Congress Promises Speedy Legislation On R. R. Consolidation

Washington, March 20.—(AP)—President Coolidge has recently received assurance from members of congress that bills looking to the consolidation of railroads would soon be taken up and probably would be passed.

20 MORE MEX REBELS 'BITE DUST' IN SCRAP

Mexico City, March 20.—(AP)—Dispatches from Guadalajara today said 20 insurgents were killed in the Ameca district. The men were part of a band of 300 who made a futile attempt to capture a town but were defeated after several hours' combat by federal troops led by Colonel Remero. Two federal soldiers were wounded.

Council's Action In Hospital Fight Given Approval

Acting Mayor Claude Ashley Tuesday signed a resolution passed Monday by city council which ratified the recent election of the 1928 hospitals and charities committee and was intended to abrogate action of the 1927 committee in naming staffs and executive committees for the white unit of Grady hospital.

Following a conference Tuesday afternoon with attorneys, members of the executive committee named by the 1927 group announced they would await action of the executive committee named by the 1928 committee before appealing to the courts, but approval of the rules of the 1928 committee was considered to be the beginning of what will lead the controversy, which has raged since March 9, into the courts to ascertain which of the executive committees are legally entitled to administer affairs at the institution.

None of the doctors named by the 1927 committee had been displaced Tuesday, but it was reported that one of them would be superseded today by one named by the 1928 hospitals and charities committee. If this is done, an appeal is to be made to Fulton county superior court Thursday morning, it was stated.

In the meantime, the white unit is operating nominally under the direction of the two executive committees, but Steve R. Johnston, superintendent, has announced that he would comply with the rulings of the 1928 committee and carry out orders of that body. That means that the entire executive committee named by the 1928 hospitals and charities body probably will be placed in charge of the institution on or after the 1928 hospitals and charities body within the next few days, and will be another cause of complaint by the executive body named by the 1927 hospitals and charities group.

Insistence that something be done soon as possible to remove the hospital from politics has grown in the past few days, and sentiment in favor of placing it under the operation of Emory university, a special board of trustees or under a graduate school board of directors has gained favor. These three suggestions designed to divorce the institution from politics have been made, but no definite action has been taken on any of them, and probably will not be until adjudication of the present battle involving two factions of doctors.

SEEK CLAIRVOYANT ACCUSED OF THEFT OF DRESS, MONEY

Athens, Ga., March 20.—(Special.)—Madam Trail, clairvoyant and palmist, is being sought by Athens detectives, charged with fleeing an Athens woman of a new dress and $200 in cash.

Madam Trail conducted her business in a studio upstairs over the principal business street in Athens. She advertised extensively. An Athens mother, whose daughter ran away from a convent, went to her for advice. Madam Trail told her she would wear the dress with the $200 for a couple of days herself. The mother consented. After two days she returned to the studio of the clairvoyant and the daughter was gone. Also the dress and the $200, says the mother.

MISSION WORKERS ALTER OWN IDEALS

Nashville, Tenn., March 20.—(AP)—With a million-dollar budget assured for the second time through record pledges of $1,081,781, the Woman's Missionary council, Methodist Episcopal church, south, today was advised of the achievement of another major goal—a complete reevaluation of the missionary task.

The ways of the world have changed and the ways of missionaries at home and abroad must change with them, was the substance of a report delivered by Mrs. Luke Johnson, Atlanta, chairman of a special commission assigned to reinterpret the whole scope of the work in the light of new factors.

Imperialistic attitudes, protection of missionaries by gunboats, and the "idea of Nordic supremacy," were classed as great hindrances to the work of missions.

"The influence of the church is bound to be affected in Latin American countries by the economic disputes with Mexico and the moving of millions into the territory of Nicaragua," the report said. "Our own missionaries in Brazil have recently reported that because of the activities of our government in Nicaragua the enrollment of our mission schools has been decreased and there is expressed indignation of the Brazilian people against our government."

Latin America on the whole has become indifferent to religion, it was admitted, and presents a strong challenge.

MANY years ago a young boy, tackling his first job, asked one of the successful men of his city, "What one thing has meant the most in your success—I want to follow it."

The answer was, "Make sure you do everything you say."

The young man asking advice was Alfred Decker, who was to soon start what is now one of the outstanding manufacturing enterprises of the times—Society Brand Clothes.

With that motto in mind—he considered the grade of clothing to manufacture—and selected the top.

That decision took courage. It meant that his clothing must be tailored in the time-honored way, by hand, by the tailors of the highest skill (as against mechanical machinery methods).

It meant that his firm must go to Europe to select the choice of woollens—it meant giving to each suit more thought, labor and detail than people could see!

But he knew that only the genuine can last! And he said he would do it!

CAPITOL MAINTENANCE

COSTS STATE $46,613

Reports of audits of three state departments were filed with Governor L. G. Hardman Tuesday by Sam J. Slate, state auditor. The departments covered were public buildings and grounds, state forestry board and the state veterans' service bureau.

The state spent $76,993.62 during 1927 upon upkeep and improvements for the state capital and the governor's mansion. It was revealed this week in the audit of public buildings and grounds department.

Nearly $20,000 of the amount, it was shown, went for additions and betterments in the capitol.

Maintenance of the capitol, the report showed, cost the state $46,613.34 for the year, while the upkeep of the mansion cost $10,042.05.

Receipts of the Georgia state forestry board increased from $17,687.57 in 1926 to $31,550 in 1927, a gain of more than 75 per cent—due principally to increased aid from the federal government—it was disclosed in the audit of the board filed with Governor Hardman by Sam J. Slate, state auditor.

The increase in government aid for the year was given as $15,881.45 in the audit, with increased revenue from private individuals totaling $128.82. The total amount derived from the government during 1926 was placed at $19,961.00, with individuals paying $203.82 for timberland examination.

Maintenance of the veterans' service office at the state capitol, for assisting veterans of the world war and Spanish-American war in handling compensation claims, cost the state $11,803.22 during 1927, the department coming well within its receipts of $12,784.45 for the year.

Of the $12,784.45 listed under "receipts," the audit showed that $10,000 came from state appropriation for 1927, the remainder consisting of balances carried over from the preceding year.

Mr. Slate, in his comments upon the audit, stated that the department's system of accounting was satisfactory and the work neatly done.

Hope for New Postoffice Building Here Expressed Following Official's Visit

Postmaster Encouraged Over Atlanta's Chances in View of New $100,000,000 Appropriation.

Considerable encouragement over the chances of Atlanta for obtaining a new federal building to replace the present congested structure was expressed Tuesday by Postmaster E. K. Large in announcing the visit of H. G. Richey, district manager of the treasury department, who is here on a fact-finding survey of Atlanta's federal building facilities.

"The fact that an additional $100,000,000 has been authorized by congress to be added to the $100,000,000 already appropriated for the federal building program leads me to believe that Atlanta stands an excellent chance of obtaining a new federal building," Mr. Large said.

Mr. Richey has compiled an exhaustive report regarding the local federal building, giving the expansion of the government's business here over periods of years, the space available, and the value of property in certain sections of the city. His report will be turned over to the committee in charge of the federal building program, which will study the facts concerning each city and then decide where the new buildings will be placed and how much will be spent for each structure. Mr. Richey said. The committee is composed of the secretary of the treasury, the postmaster general and the director of the budget.

Building Plan Unformulated.
Just what form the building would take if decided upon by the committee is purely a matter of conjecture at present, Mr. Large pointed out. The postmaster said that if the committee decides on a new building for Atlanta a number of different projects naturally will suggest themselves, namely, to retain the present structure and erect a new building to house the overflow, or to sell the present building and build a new one to house all of the different departments.

In event the committee would decide to retain the present site and building and build an annex, the present building might be used for the window service of the postoffice and the "out-of-sight" activities of the postoffice conducted in the annex, as Station B is now larger than the main postoffice. Mr. Large said.

The present site of the postoffice is one of the best in the city, in Mr. Large's opinion, being conveniently situated for dealing with the public.

Space All Taken.

Conditions in the local postoffice building are said to necessitate the erection of a new federal building within the near future, as the post-office department is now using every available inch of space, and will be forced to lease outside floor space if the mail volume grows any heavier, which appears inevitable from the monthly reports of the postmaster. The present structure, erected in 1910, has seen postal receipts more than quadruple from $1,055,724 in 1910 to $4,510,420 in 1927. In 1900 the receipts were $339,644.53, far less than the present average monthly receipts. The present land area occupied by the federal building is 214 feet by 217 feet, and, according to postoffice officials, there is need for a federal building occupying at least 300 by 300 feet.

Tremendous growth has been experienced by the postoffice department here, to the extent that no more space is available in the federal building than is actually needed, it was said. Postoffice officials pointed out that to concentrate all of the governmental offices under one roof would be to the advantage of both the public and the service, and in the interests of efficiency and simplicity. A number of federal departments are now housed in outside office buildings because of the congestion, it was said.

$5,000,000 Estimated Cost.

Although postoffice officials would not express an opinion as to the probable cost of the desired new federal building, it was stated that the cost would be at least $5,000,000, for land and construction. Accompanied by Postmaster Large, Mr. Richey has inspected a number of sites in the city with a view to obtaining the relative cost of land in various sections of the city. Mr. Richey pointed out that his inspection of the properties in no way means that he will recommend the purchase of any of them, but that he merely priced the lots in order that the committee might have a fair estimate of land values here.

If the committee decides that a new federal building should be erected here, then bids will be advertised for, and the committee will visit and inspect each proffered site, it was said.

CLAIM CONFESSION IN TRAIN WRECKING

Jesup, Ga., March 20.—(P)—James Lee, Wayne county negro, was arrested here today and placed in the county jail after he is said to have confessed to opening the switch which caused the derailment of the Kansas City Special, operated by the Southern railway, late Sunday night. Hubert M. Acuff, Macon, fireman of the train, was killed in the wreck and F. M. Pair, Macon, engineer, was seriously injured.

According to officers Lee, in his confession, gave his motive as robbery. He is said to have told London W. Rogers, newly-elected sheriff of Wayne county, who made the arrest, that he thought the mail car would be overturned and he intended to loot the mail pouches.

In his confession Lee said that he found the switch keys two months ago while walking along the railroad.

Officers made an investigation at the time of the wreck and found that the switch had been locked open.

WINDHAM INDICTED ON LARCENY CHARGE

A grand jury indictment charging larceny after trust to W. Lamar Windham, former manager of the NeWay Towel company here, was returned Tuesday in Fulton superior court.

According to testimony in municipal court, which held Windham to the jury under $500 bond, he "converted" $257.91 of the company's collections without consent of its officials.

HARWELL INDICTED IN SHOOTING CASE

Walter E. Harwell, city marshal, was indicted by the Fulton grand jury Tuesday on charges of assault with intent to murder and carrying a concealed weapon. The two counts were returned following investigation of the altercation in the city hall Wednesday during which Harwell is alleged to have fired a pistol at Steve C. Glass, his chief deputy.

The bond of $2,500, assessed Saturday by Judge Luther Z. Rosser following preliminary arraignment in municipal court, will continue in effect, according to the solicitor's office.

Witnesses appearing on the indictment are Glass, Glenn Dewberry, city hall custodian; Mrs. Bessie Hamilton, employee of the marshal's office, and L. R. Haley, of a local trust company, who was in an adjoining office when the shooting occurred.

Harwell insists the shot was accidental, resulting when he and Glass struggled for his pistol, while Glass has sworn Harwell took deliberate aim with the apparent intention of killing him.

Both have testified that they be-

PASSENGER TRAIN DERAILED SOUTH OF NORCROSS, GA.

Norcross, Ga., March 20.—(P)—Passengers were severely shaken up but none seriously injured when Southern railway train No. 15, Richmond to Atlanta, was derailed two miles south of here early tonight. A broken main driving axle on the engine threw the locomotive and the four other cars comprising the train off the tracks, although none of them turned over.

Both main tracks of the road were blocked by the accident and officials said it probably would be midnight or later before traffic could be resumed over the line.

The derailment occurred at 7:30 o'clock, eastern standard time, half an hour before the train was due in Atlanta.

Always a new Horizon for HUDSON

The consistency of Hudson leadership is but the performance of its first principle, resolution and tradition—to always lead in value.

Thus it was the first car at moderate price to give truly great performance, smoothness and reliability—the industry's standard today.

Thus it was the first in the development of American closed cars, and such smart turnouts as the Town Car and Speedster.

The Coach—a Hudson invention—turned the entire industry to closed cars.

The Super-Six principle and its companion invention that turns waste heat to power, is the most efficient combination in development and transmission of power, within our knowledge.

The engineering and manufacturing resources responsible for these great advancements are expressed again in Hudson's new leadership of mode.

In the beautifully designed and luxuriously finished bodies that feature the new Hudson Super-Sixes the same relation of values obtain as made the Super-Six chassis famous.

COAL BODY CALLS BUSINESS LEADERS

Washington, March 20.—(P)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Charles M. Schwab, R. B. Mellon and other outstanding investors in the bituminous industry will appear on Friday as witnesses before the senate coal investigating committee.

In executive session the committee decided to accede to the earlier request of Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, that the industrial leaders be called, Chairman Watson explaining later that the call was issued for the purpose of discussing the serious situation with them and getting their views of what might be done by the operators themselves to work it all out.

He added that Rockefeller and the others were being called principally in an effort to encourage operators to "put their house in order" in the belief that success in that direction might obviate any necessity for federal intervention.

While the committee was continuing its hearings, it developed that President Coolidge believes that the conference proposed by Governor Fisher, of Pennsylvania, to discuss the situation might prove to be too large to accomplish practical results.

The conference would include operators, miners, interested states and the federal government, and while Mr. Coolidge feels that a small gathering might be less unwieldy, he has no thought of objecting to federal representation should the Fisher proposal be carried out.

Governor Fisher also has been asked to testify before the senate committee. But a date for his appearance has not been set.

In requesting that Rockefeller be called, Senator Wheeler referred to investments held by the oil magnate in the Consolidated Coal company of West Virginia. Schwab is chairman of the board for the Bethlehem Steel corporation, which mines coal in Pennsylvania. Mellon, a brother of Secretary Mellon, is a director of the Pittsburgh Coal company. Other directors of this company to be called are J. D. Lyons, A. K. Oliver and W. D. Reis.

That Fisher will be questioned closely on the attitude of the state toward the situation in the bituminous fields was indicated again today when Senator Wagner, democrat, New York, said that he had been "struck by the indifference of state authorities toward the malignant conditions."

Senator Gooding, republican, Idaho, has said that he wanted to question the Pennsylvania governor on a speech attributed to him at Easton, Pa., in which the senate subcommittee which inspected the Pittsburgh area was severely criticized.

Added accounts of the situation in the bituminous field of Pennsylvania were given to the committee today by Fannie Hurst, the writer, and Herbert McCarty, a photographer, both of whom visited that area for newspapers. Miss Hurst described conditions as worse than those she found on a trip through Russian labor centers, and said:

"The human degradation is beyond the telling."

McCarty gave an eyewitness account of a shooting rampage conducted by strike breakers in Broughton, Pa. He told of seeing the imported laborers firing into the barracks homes of strikers, and into a schoolhouse filled with children.

SCHWAB IS WILLING TO TESTIFY IF CALLED.

New York, March 20.—(P)—Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, returned from a six weeks' visit abroad today and said that he would be glad to appear before the senate coal investigation committee if summoned.

Mr. Schwab is believed that his name had come up in connection with the investigation when his ship reached quarantine.

At that time he did not quite understand why he should be called, he said there was no trouble in the Bethlehem company's mines, but he expressed entire willingness to be of what assistance he could.

FOUR MEN FEARED DROWNED AFTER BOAT TURNS OVER

Wilmington, N. C., March 20.—(P) Jesse B. Farrar, Sr., A. O. Waters and Quincy Sessoms, of Wilmington, and Cannon Edwards, of New York, are missing and believed drowned as a result of the capsizing early today of a boat in the Cape Fear river at the Liberty ship yard. Sessoms and Edwards are negroes.

The missing men, according to information obtained by the police, with a fifth man, were making their way to the Munson steamer Munsilla when the boat was overturned. The cause of the accident was undetermined. The fifth man, a West Indian, swam to the ship and was rescued.

ing after which M. Litvinoff will make his reply.

At today's session General De Marinis for Italy and Count Clauzel for France expressed anxiety about the question of "social security," which in their opinion was quite as important as security of frontiers.

Baron Saito for Japan and Dr. Riddell for Canada spoke in the same vein, completely changing the atmosphere of the committee room, where the soviet delegate's speech had made a certain impression yesterday.

LINDBERGH TAKES SOLONS FOR RIDE

Washington, March 20.—(P)—More than a score of members of congress went sightseeing over Washington today in company with a distinguished aerial taxi driver—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

A portion of the 90-odd senators and representatives who accepted Lindbergh's recent blanket invitation to fly with him, went up with the trans-Atlantic flier in a Fokker army transport monoplane and a Douglas biplane. By groups they took off from Bolling field for 20-minute spins over the city.

In the passenger list were two of the four women members of the house, Representatives Rogers, of Massachusetts, and Langley, of Kentucky.

The flier's, Lindbergh, is one of the best ways to give congress practical education in aviation, served also to create a setting for the presentation of tomorrow of the congressional medal of honor to the flier at the hands of President Coolidge.

Voted last December by congress as another tribute to the first man to fly solo from New York to Paris, the medal will be bestowed at the white house at noon.

The ceremony will be simple, probably in the president's office, and will follow the precedent set when a similar medal was given to Commander Richard E. Byrd, for his aerial accomplishment.

If the congressional fliers had any fears before or after their flights today they did not reveal them. They appeared eager to fly and delighted with the experience when they alighted.

Part of tomorrow and most of Thursday have been set aside for Lindbergh to take other legislators for rides.

While one load of guests was up, another trans-Atlantic flier arrived at Bolling field, carrying a party of three. By way of giving the congressional visitors a touch of higher education along with their elementary lessons, Alfred Williams, naval racing pilot, went aloft in the 50-mile gale and cut capers around Lindbergh's plane. He inscribed a few loops, half-circles and topped off with some nose dives.

AL SMITH ANSWERS SINCLAIR CHARGES

ber of the racing commission of the state," Senator Robinson, of Indiana made a similar statement. Your information, wherever you got it, is in every respect false and these statements were recklessly made.

"A careful search of the official records made at my request today confirmed my recollection that Mr. Sinclair never contributed to my campaign fund either in 1920 or at any other time that I ever ran for office; in fact, I failed of election as governor in 1920 and Mr. Sinclair had been appointed to the racing commission months prior to that election, some four years before there was any thought of the oil scandals. A few months before the end of his term early in 1925, I accepted his resignation."

"I do not propose that either you or Senator Robinson, of Indiana, shall escape public humiliation for the infamous insinuations you have made by your pretense of disclaiming desire to cast reflection on me or stating that your committee has no concern with the matter without the slightest warrant in fact, and with no basis whatever, you have both made false public statements from which you evidently calculated that people would be misled into believing that I was in some way a beneficiary of the oil scandals. This, no doubt, is a republican counsel of desperation to escape in some measure the penalty for the disgraceful record of the republican party in connection with these scandals. No such red herring can be dragged across the trail. The complete baseness of your demagogic slander has aroused the indignation with which I make this protest against your outrageous conduct."

Sinclair, in his resignation on February 5, 1925, told the governor that it would not be "convenient" for him to continue in the office of racing commissioner, and gave no other reason, the governor disclosed today after a search through the files had brought his letter to light.

NYE ACCEPTS SMITH DENIAL.

Washington, March 20.—(United News.)—Chairman Nye, of the senate Teapot Dome committee, declared tonight Governor Smith's denial of receiving contributions toward his campaign fund from Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, must be "accepted as disproving any charge which has been made."

When informed by the United News of Governor Smith's letter, which was forwarded to him today from Albany, and which he has not yet received, Nye said:

"It is a good flat statement that anyone ought to be able to accept as final. Knowing Smith, we must accept this statement as disproving any charge which has been made. He was the recipient of any contribution from Mr. Sinclair."

Nye said, however, that he made the statement linking Sinclair's name with the campaign activities of Governor Smith only when asked regarding the subject on the floor of the senate.

"I had a letter from a person in New York," Nye said, "stating that Sinclair had contributed to Governor Smith's campaign fund. I assumed it to be correct."

Regarding Governor Smith's charge that "this no doubt is a republican counsel of desperation to escape in some measure the penalty for the disgraceful record of the republican party in connection with the scandal," Nye said:

"I didn't know that I was being included among the membership of those who were attending the so-called 'republican counsel.'"

AUTHORIZES PLACING NAME IN BOSTON.

Boston, March 20.—(P)—Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York has given formal consent to the use of his name for the expression of presidential preference in the Massachusetts democratic primaries, it was announced at the statehouse today.

In a letter to Charles H. McGlue, chairman of the democratic state committee, Governor Smith said:

"I hereby consent to the use of my name for the expression of a presidential preference in the Massachusetts presidential primary for the election of delegates and alternates to the democratic national convention and hereby authorize you to file such consent for such delegates and alternates, both at large and district representatives, as you may designate."

Chairman McGlue late today filed the authorization with the secretary of state.

WINS 10 VOTES IN NORTH DAKOTA.

Fargo, N. D., March 21.—(P)—Thirteen votes for Frank O. Lowden in the republican presidential convention and ten for Governor Alfred E. Smith in the democratic were pledged by the North Dakota electorate in today's state primary preference primary.

Dynamite Explosion Seen As Cause of Dam Break

Los Angeles, March 20.—(P)—Evidence that a dynamite explosion may have caused the collapse of the St. Francis dam and released the flood of liquid death on the Santa Clara river valley today was in the hands of investigating authorities. While officials were not definitely convinced that the dam had been dynamited, so much credence was placed on the finding of deputy sheriffs assigned to the flood area that every reservoir and dam in the entire Los Angeles water system tonight was under a heavy guard.

Among the discoveries which officials said tended to support the dynamiting theory was said to be the finding near the dam of a sheet of note paper with a roughly outlined chart of the structure and a short piece of newly frayed rope. The strand was asserted to be the same type used by aqueduct dynamiters who in the past have blasted sections of the structure and that the failure of the waterway. The chart was said to be written in the same handwriting that sketched charts found at the previous dynamitings.

Members of the city department of water and power bureau gathered some of the evidence but the bulk of it has been found by the deputies assigned to the stricken valley.

John M. Pyles and J. Clark Sellers, special investigators in the aqueduct blastings, were called to the scene of the disaster today to take part in the investigation.

With the known death toll from last week's flood set at 277 and the list of missing at 173, a federal investigation also got underway today with the arrival of Dr. Edward Mead, director of the reclamation service.

Among the phases to be taken up by the federal officials will be the possibility that the collapse of the 160,000 cubic yards of concrete was caused by explosives, that land slides brought unanticipated pressure against the structure, and that the failure of the dam may have been due to faulty construction or location.

Dr. Mead will select a board of nationally known engineers to make an analysis of the causes of the disaster. On his arrival, he was handed a sheaf of telegrams from the American Society of Engineers, who have recommended six western engineers as candidates for the government investigating body.

FAISON SENTENCED TO YEAR IN PRISON FOR WIDOW'S DEATH

Richmond, Va., March 20.—(United News.)—John Wesley Faison, former manager of the exclusive Hermitage Country club, was found guilty late today of involuntary manslaughter in the slaying of his affluence, Mrs. Elsie Holt Snipes, pretty young music teacher and divorcee, formerly of Princeton, N. C.

Judge Wells immediately sentenced him to one year in the penitentiary and declared that in his opinion the jury had been exceedingly lenient.

The jurist said he hoped Faison, who is married, would come out of prison a better husband and return to his wife and children.

Faison accepted the verdict calmly and after a short conference with his attorneys decided to accept it. The convicted slayer tried to cheer his wife after the verdict was read by telling her he would get four months off his sentence for good behavior.

Faison had been charged with shooting Mrs. Snipes while in a jealous rage in her apartment last November 16. His defense was that she shot herself because he had told her he was going to give her up and return to his family.

H. H. HUTCHINSON TO HEAD ROTARY

Herbert N. Hutchinson was nominated Tuesday for the presidency of the Rotary club to succeed Robert Foreman, Sr. The election of officers will take place at the meeting on April 3, and the new officers will take charge of the club on July 1.

Other Rotarians nominated were Howard Candler, first vice president; Rayne Gibson, second vice president; Charles F. Palmer, secretary; John N. Goddard, treasurer, and DeSales Harrison, sergeant-at-arms. The nominations were announced by Thomas C. Law for the nominating committee. Five directors also are to be elected out of a list of ten selected by the committee.

Tells of Excavations.
Warren K. Moorehead, director of the department of archaeology, was the speaker at Tuesday's session, dealing with his discoveries at Etowah, near Cartersville, and at Carter's Quarter, in Murray county, where Indian mounds have been excavated.

Miss Margaret Ashby, with clay and who is assisting Dr. Moorehead, was a guest at the meeting.

Announcing that his 200-page report on the Georgia mound builders will be ready for distribution this winter, Dr. Moorehead said that the purpose of the work has been not to fix the date these tribes lived but to obtain evidence and facts regarding the lives of the people of prehistoric times.

The scientists have learned that the Shawano Indians, who built the Cartersville mounds on the Mrs. Georgia Tumlin estate, built their wigwams of cane or rushes, with thatched roofs, instead of with bark. Fires frequently swept this inflammable village, as evidenced by the imprints of the burned rushes in the clay floors of the wigwams, he said.

Just how the prehistoric fire department dealt with the burning village Dr. Moorehead did not say, but he told the Rotarians that he has found the fingerprints of the Indian women in the clay, and that the wigwam floors were baked by the fires used for heating and cooking purposes. Bone needles, knives, red paint, carbonized remnants of food, and other relics of the tribe have been found, he said.

Little Dental Trouble.
Dr. Moorehead said that the Shawanos had little dental trouble, and their skeletons were found remarkably free from traces of disease. Teeth found were in a splendid condition, he said. There has been no evidence of a written language, but by study of the designs on pottery, being made by Miss Ashby, a great deal of the history of the tribe is being revealed, he declared.

One of the rock graves found in the mound will be given to Atlanta for exhibition to Georgians, together with a large collection of relics from the village site, as soon as the scientists have completed their studies and a suitable place is provided to house the exhibit, he said. Dr. Moorehead said that his report will be written in "popular style" so that "the who runs may read it."

Asked by a Rotarian if he had found any evidences of DeSoto's visit to Georgia, Dr. Moorehead said that he has not, and that he is very glad of that fact. "It makes me sore to see so many hotels named after DeSoto, for he was a cruel wretch," Dr. Moorehead said. He told how the Indians outwitted DeSoto's men by luring them, clad in armor, into canoes and then turning the canoes over in midstream.

SUICIDE BLAMES "IN-LAWS" IN NOTE BEFORE SHOOTING

Cordale, Ga., March 20.—(P)—A note blaming his wife's people for "trying to separate" the couple was left by W. W. Wilson, 72, who yesterday shot and killed his young wife and then took his own life. The note said that death seemed to be the only way out of the dilemma.

The bodies were discovered when a 17-year-old son returned home from school. A coroner's verdict held Wilson responsible for the slayings. Wilson was buried here today, while his wife's body was taken to Sycamore, Ga., for interment.

TEAPOT PROBERS FUSS OVER PLANS

Washington, March 20.—(AP)—A rift in the senate Teapot Dome committee between the youthful chairman, Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, and the silver-haired prosecutor, Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, appeared on the horizon today as the committee prepared to reopen its public hearings tomorrow.

For some time there have been under surface indications of disagreements between the republican and the democratic senator and today the Montana brought the matter into the open with a formal statement generally viewed as criticizing the course of the chairman in certain matters.

It is singularly unfortunate, Senator Walsh said, "that publicity should have been given to one of the plans of the committee, or what individual members conceive to be its plans, and equally that there should be allowed to become public information affecting priceless reputations until it is confirmed upon inquiry to such an extent as to warrant a development of the facts through witnesses."

That sentence appeared at the end of a statement by the Montana in which he stated that the committee should ignore the demand made in the senate yesterday that Governor Alfred E. Smith be called before the committee "for the plain and simple reason that he has no ground to believe that he can shed any light upon the subject of its inquiry."

The precise reason for Walsh's strictures on the chairman were not made clear but those closely connected with the investigation accepted them as to refer to Nye's announcement yesterday that the committee would investigate the records of the Harding estate and the permitting of reports to leak out at Chicago which since have impelled both Associate Justice Frederick L. Siddons, of the District of Columbia supreme court, and Chief Justice George E. Martin, of the District of Columbia court of appeals to issue statements.

While Walsh's statement was in preparation the chairman amplified his previous statement about the Harding estate inquiry by saying that the investigation would be comprehensive enough to encompass the question of whether the late president became the recipient of "any returns whatever from any of the interests involved in the Continental Trading company and these other oil deals."

Likewise the chairman today received a telegram from Lucius J. Malm, of Chicago, asking for permission to make public correspondence "and facts" relating to the mystery "package" which went astray during its shipment from Chicago to Washington, and which is now believed to have been a package of Christmas cards sent to Chief Justice Martin by his son-in-law, Adolph H. Sus, an employee of the Sinclair Refining company at Chicago. This was last December when the Sinclair-Burns oil contempt case was being heard.

Malm, a former federal district judge in the Virgin Islands, said letters and dates seemed to corroborate information given him by a mystery witness now known only as "H."

"I would not place myself in the position of seeming to say what you shall or shall not say or do," Nye replied to Malm's request.

SINCLAIR WANTS JOINT OIL TRIAL.
Washington, March 20.—(AP)—A bitter legal battle over the government's plans to hold separate trials for Harry F. Sinclair and Albert B. Fall, charged with defrauding the government in the Teapot Dome naval oil leases came into prospect tonight.

George P. Hoover, Sinclair's counsel, announced that he would oppose severance of the cases and if separate trials were ordered because of Fall's illness, would demand postponement of the Sinclair case because Fall would be needed as a material witness for the oil man.

FALL'S CONDITION PREVENTS TRIAL.
El Paso, Texas, March 20.—(AP)—A report that the condition of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, is such that it will not be advisable for him to attend the Sinclair-Fall trial in Washington, April 2, was made in a telegram tonight to government counsel in charge of the case, the El Paso Times said tonight.

Fall, the newspaper learned, was examined Sunday by Dr. R. B. Homan and Dr. Felix Miller, in the presence of Dr. H. T. Safford, Mr. Fall's physician. The examining physicians declined to be quoted.

Dr. Safford said his opinion was that it would not be safe for him to make the long journey much less stand the strain of the trial.

LOANS IN COTTON WILL BE PROBED

Washington, March 20.—(AP)—Supplementary crackle of charges aimed at William L. Clayton, of Houston, Texas, head of the Anderson-Clayton cotton trading house of that city, marked conclusion today of the direct testimony before a senate investigating committee by Arthur R. Marsh, New York cotton broker.

Adding to his previous accusations to the committee and the department of justice that Clayton devised and still is engineering a control of the cotton futures market ruinous to his competitors, and Marsh asserted, in violation of anti-trust statutes, the violation of the cotton exchange and the cornering of the low grade cotton market, carried on a world-wide propaganda against the New York Cotton exchange and the injury to cotton spinners exhibited evidence of advance access to department of agriculture cotton market reviews and predictions.

$250,000,000 Cost.
Asked by Senator Hefflin, democrat, Alabama, as to what he judged the cotton slump in 1927, Marsh said cotton growers in the price paid for their products, Marsh put it around $250,000,000 "at least," according to the senator's translation of his figures.

David H. Miller, counsel for Clayton, flatly denied Marsh's charge, repeated today, that before the department of agriculture statement predicting a downward slant to cotton prices was issued September 15 last, a Clayton representative had advised a member of the New Orleans exchange that it was coming.

That change that it was coming, no telegram was sent, Miller said, adding that "we expect to prove that."

The low grade cotton corner had cost Clayton's competitors tremendous sums, Marsh asserted, as when they could not get the cotton only from the Houston firm at its own prices.

Also Hit.
He also calculated that the "propaganda" which led spinners to transfer operations from New York to the New Orleans exchange in 1926-27 had cost the spinners as high as $6 a bale additional for their raw material. The witness did not develop how this came about.

The assertion, supporting a statement that the Houston house jumped from a capital of $5,000,000 just after the war to present financial strength of $35,000,000 or $40,000,000, particularly attracted the committee's attention. It was to the fact that Anderson Clayton had borrowed up to $70,000,000 from the war finance corporation prior to 1922, Marsh could not vouch for the figure, but he said it represented the general belief of the cotton trade. On motion of Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, the committee will investigate that aspect of the corporation's transactions.

ALLEGED VICTIM SAYS CHARGES ARE FALSE.
Greenville, S. C., March 20.—(AP)—The statement of Arthur L. Marsh made before a senate investigating committee today that the firm of Cooper and Griffin was "plucked" to the bankruptcy by the alleged manipulations of Anderson Clayton company are "utterly false" and the denial will be read into the records of the committee tomorrow, W. S. Griffin president, told the Associated Press tonight.

Mr. Griffin said that the formal denial of the assertion on the part of the Cooper and Griffin company and been wired to Senator Smith, of South Carolina, chairman of the committee investigating the charges against the Anderson Clayton company, and that Senator Smith had assured Mr. Griffin the statement would be read into the records of the committee tomorrow.

Mr. Griffin's telegram to Senator Smith was as follows:
"We note press dispatches contain following 'Marsh' said by Arthur L. Marsh made before a senate investigating committee today that the firm of Cooper and Griffin was 'plucked' to the bankruptcy by the alleged manipulations of Anderson Clayton company are 'utterly false' and the denial will be read into the records of the committee tomorrow."

Mr. Griffin said, "His statement was absolutely unqualified and was utterly false."

NEW ORLEANS EXCHANGE DENIES ANY CONNECTION.
New Orleans, March 20.—(AP)—Den J. Williams, chairman of the trade extension, committee of the New Orleans cotton exchange, tonight issued the following statement concerning testimony given today by Arthur R. Marsh, New York cotton broker, before the senate committee investigating conditions in the cotton industry:

"The New Orleans cotton exchange has had no part in the present controversy. Any statement that the exchange is assisting the activities or operations of any individual or firm is without foundation in fact."

Tennessee Convict Pleads Guilty To Raising Bills
Nashville, Tenn., March 20.—(AP)—Howard Barr, state convict, described by prison authorities as a master counterfeiter, pleaded guilty in federal court today to the forgery of a batch of $10 and $20 bills, raised from the $1 denomination with the aid of nothing but an ordinary drawing pen. Sentence was deferred.

With three other convicts, John Jordan, Grover Puckett and Albert Baldwin, he was elected to stand trial on a conspiracy charge. Though Barr admitted forgeries in which he was trapped last November, he and the others denied all connection with similar operations uncovered at the prison in August.

Barr apparently accomplished miracles with his pen, altering not only numerals but the faces of the presidents, and transforming steamships into railroad trains. He was allowed the materials to follow a correspondence course in architecture, and for a long time authorities refused to believe he could alter the bills with the instruments he had.

Dole Decrease.
London, March 20.—(United News.) It was announced tonight that on March 12 there were 1,071,700 unemployed persons registered with the government, 22,000 below the number registered a week previous and 47,000 below the number registered March 12, 1927.

Another Month?
New York, March 20.—(United News.)—A revision of the calendar to provide 13 months instead of 12 was to be considered by the committee to commerce of the American Bar association beginning three-day session today.

Clues Sought in Three-Month Search for Vanished 'Videll'

Washington, March 20.—(AP)—Solution of a mystery of the sea—the disappearance of the yacht "Videll" or "King Fisher" last December—is being sought by Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, but so far without success.

The yacht, a 50-foot craft, carrying eight persons, including the owner, William H. Power, and his wife, formerly a Miss Bates, of Hot Springs, Ark., and their three-year-old child, left Southport, N. C., December 18, bound for Thunderbolt, Ga., but never has been heard from since, despite diligent search by the coast guard.

Senator Caraway's aid was enlisted by B. L. Bates, of Hot Springs, brother of Mrs. Power. He wrote that all mail addressed to the yacht at Thunderbolt, by their direction had been returned, but that it seemed impossible the yacht could have disappeared without some trace having been found.

The Arkansas senator communicated with the coast guard which found the last trace at the time the "Videll" left Southport cruising down the Cape Fear river. The name "Videll" was painted on the stern, but the name "King Fisher" appeared on the ring buoys on the bridge.

A letter from the mayor of Southport to the senator said the "Videll" had sailed but that good weather prevailed at the time. Now, Senator Caraway has written to Governor McLean, of North Carolina, enlisting his aid in the search.

Besides the owner and his family the yacht had aboard the captain and a crew of three and a negro maid. One theory is that the gasoline tank may have exploded, destroying the yacht and all those on board but since the craft was running through the inland waters it is difficult to understand why no trace of bodies or wreckage has been found during the three months since the yacht was last sighted.

ACCOUNTING OF KLAN FUNDS IS DEMANDED
Detroit, Mich., March 20.—(AP)—Accounting of funds and property of various organizations of the Ku Klux Klan is demanded in a suit filed here by Henry C. Warner, former Klan member, through his attorney, Walter M. Nelson.

Warner, a real estate man, asks for appointment of receivers for organizations of the Klan and an injunction restraining the assigning, conveying or encumbering of funds, property or income of the organizations.

Debits Are Charged.
He avers that Michigan organizations of the order are insolvent and that debts are unpaid as a result of the membership dwindling to a paltry and inconsiderable number.

The defendants include the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Michigan, Michigan state branch of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc., a Georgia corporation, and Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, another Georgia corporation with offices at Washington, D. C., and the Knights of the Great Forest, successor thereto.

Members of Committee.
Individuals, said to be members of the executive committee, officers, agents and trustees of Klan organizations in Michigan also are made defendants.

George E. Carr, the bill stated, is grand juror of Henry J. Borah, secretary of the Michigan branch of the Klan.

Warner said his purposes in joining the Klan were of great value to him financially. He placed the value at $25,000 and stated that he had been damaged in that sum. He charged the organizations with mismanagement in handling $3,000,000 of Klan funds and in handling Michigan properties.

PILOTS TO TEST FORD AIRPLANE FOR POLAR TRIP
Miller Field, Staten Island, N. Y., March 20.—(AP)—Floyd Bennett and Bernt Balchen, pilots in Commander Richard E. Byrd's projected antarctic expedition, took off at about 11 a. m. today for the Ford airport in Detroit. They will test there, in a series of flights, a three-motored Ford plane for use on the polar trip. Flying another expedition ship, a Belanto, they were accompanied by C. A. Wrangé, a friend.

Value in Hard Head.
Wakefield, Mass., March 20.—(United News.)—Although the wheel of a heavy delivery wagon passed over his head, 4-year-old Joseph Ryan will recover. The wheel pressed his head nearly a foot into soft mud, and Joseph's only injuries were cuts and bruises on his face.

HEFLIN ATTEMPTS TO STOP MARINES ON WAY TO SOUTH
Washington, March 20.—(United News.)—Senator Hefflin, Alabama, democrat, told the senate today the United States should hang its head in shame for its activities in Nicaragua, during a speech urging action on his resolution directing President Coolidge to withdraw American marines from the country.

Consideration of the resolution, which was reported from the senate foreign relations committee with a unanimous recommendation that it be defeated, was objected to by Senator Borah, despite Hefflin's appeal for action.

"They are sending 1,000 more marines to Nicaragua this week," Hefflin said. "Congress is the only agency of the government which has the power to declare war, yet congress sits supinely while the president is conducting a war in Nicaragua."

Sub Victim Left Pitiful Message

Boston, March 20.—(AP)—But one of the six men imprisoned in the torpedo room of the sunken submarine S-4 wrote a message during their last 74 hours of life, a thorough inspection of the vessel indicated today.

This message, a brief one, was found in the clothing of Seaman George Pelmar at the Chelsea naval hospital, where the bodies of the last eight of the S-4's crew were taken following the removal last night. It was written in red crayon on a small piece of cardboard and read:

"My body to Pelmar, 5600 South 10th street, Omaha, Neb."

The address was that of Pelmar's mother, Mrs. Kate Melezn, listed in official naval records as his next of kin.

The finding of the message was announced by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, who came here to inspect the S-4 in her drydock, and to thank the officers and men of the salvage fleet for their successful efforts during their three months at Provincetown.

No record or note relating to the last hours which Lieutenant Graham N. Fitch and his five comrades spent in the torpedo compartment has been found.

Dirigible Italia Is Given Tests For Polar Flight
Milan, Italy, March 20.—(AP)—The dirigible Italia, in which General Umberto Nobile intends to fly to the north pole, successfully completed a lengthy test flight today.

The airship settled down at Baggio airport near here at 7:15 a. m. After being in the air more than 22 hours. The craft carried a full load and a complement of 21 men.

Starting from Ciampino airfield, near Rome, at 9 a. m. yesterday, General Nobile headed for Spezia. As it was St. Joseph's day he sent a wireless message to Romagnolo Mancini, commander of the base ship, City of Milan, whose Christian name is Giuseppe (Joseph) wishing him good luck on his fete.

Afterwards the Italia flew over Turin and then followed the course of the Po river, reaching Milan shortly before midnight. The craft circled low about the cathedral and the central square, and then went east to Verona, returning to Milan at 4:45 a. m. today. Before going to the airport, the airship again circled the city.

General Nobile said he was most satisfied with the results of the trial.

New York, March 20.—(AP)—Charles A. Levine's trans-Atlantic monoplane Columbia landed at Curtis field today, completing a round-trip flight to Cuba, and immediately was placed in the hands of mechanics for conditioning in preparation for an endurance flight attempt.

Wilmer Stultz, pilot, who flew the plane back from Norfolk, Va., today said an effort will be made to start the endurance attempt Saturday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Jean Barnes, of Norfolk, and Keith Smith, a college student. Levine and Miss Mabel Boll, who made the non-stop flight to Havana, came north by train.

THE PROBLEM

The sums total of the figures on each of the three elephants pictured herewith are to be given as a solution. You can find the sum total of each elephant by adding up the figures of each. The figures 1, 2, and 3 in the circles in the upper left hand corners of the elephants are simply to identify them. These figures have nothing to do with the elephants' weights.

In submitting your solution you must identify the three elephants by their numbers and give the weights of each. A complete solution means that you are to find the sum total of each elephant. It takes the sum total of each to make one solution. This is a game of skill and not a guessing contest.

There are no "4's" or "5's" in the elephants. There are no groups of figures, that is, the figure "9" is the highest figure shown. There are no "23's," "55's" or "97's," or like groups. If you find a "4" and a "5" are written so closely together that it looks like "23," it means that "2" and "3" are to be added—just as you would if they were an inch apart.

The tops of the "6's" are distinctly curved, and the bottom of the "9's" are straight or nearly so. There is no trick or illusion in the charts.

GENERAL RULES OF THE CONTEST

1. This contest is open only to residents of Georgia and adjoining states. Both old and new subscribers may enter. No employee or member of an employee's family of The Atlanta Constitution will be allowed to participate in the contest, nor any of the prize winners that have won prizes in excess of $100.00 in any of the elephant contests heretofore conducted by The Atlanta Constitution.

2. Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they may desire, provided a payment of one of the amounts designated in the prize list shall accompany each solution; but no contestant will be permitted to win more than one prize. Those registered a solution cannot be changed. NO SOLUTION UNACCOMPANIED BY A SUBSCRIPTION PAYMENT WILL BE REGISTERED.

3. The Atlanta Constitution offers these prizes for individual effort. While it is proper for members of one household or several friends to work together, it is not permissible for more than one of those working in union to send a solution of the puzzle. When, in the judgment of the contest manager or The Atlanta Constitution, more than one member of the same family or more than one of any number of persons he believes have worked together, send in a solution of the puzzle, the right is reserved to refund the amount of money paid for subscription and return the solution if it is believed has been submitted contrary to the rules.

4. The Atlanta Constitution reserves the right at any time to reject any solution which it believes has not been submitted under the proper conditions. In other words, any group of persons working together and submitting more than one solution, all submitted by the group will be barred. The Atlanta Constitution also reserves the right to finally decide any other questions or points which may arise in this contest, and participants by sending in their answers agree to accept the decision of the contest manager or The Atlanta Constitution as conclusive and final.

5. In case of ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are people tied before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution; that is, if two or more people should tie in the best solution, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them, and they will be awarded in order of the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. That is, the best solution will be awarded the first prize, the next best second, and the third best third prize, etc.

6. All solutions with remittances must be delivered to the office of The Atlanta Constitution by 6:00 p. m., Thursday, March 29, 1928, or mailed at any post office in Georgia or adjoining states, bearing postmark of no later date than March 29.

7. The subscription rate of the daily and Sunday Constitution is $5.00 for six months, $9.50 for twelve months. All subscriptions in this contest must be paid in advance. Nothing less than six months' subscription will be accepted, and not more than twelve months' subscription is required. A subscription can be sent in one person and the solution credited to another, but the complete address of both must be given in each instance. This contest begins Thursday, Feb. 9, and ends Thursday, March 29, 1928. A subscriber, new or renewal, can submit a solution with his or her remittance of $5.00 for six months or $9.50 for twelve months subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution. No additional qualifying remittances for subscriptions will be required after the closing of the elephant adding contest on March 29th.

How to Win $1,500.00

To enter this contest it is necessary to send but one paid-in-advance subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution for six months with $5.00, but you can increase the amount of the prize money that you will receive if you are a winner. For instance, with a $5.00 remittance and six months' subscription, should you win first prize the amount paid would be $500.00, but if the winner of first prize has qualified with a remittance of $9.50 for twelve months' subscription, the prize will be $1,500.00 instead of $500.00.

$500.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one six months' subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution with $5.00 remittance is sent, new or renewal, $250.00 for second prize, $125.00 for third prize, etc.

$1,500.00 instead of $500.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one yearly subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution is sent with $9.50, either new or renewal; second prize, $1,000.00; third prize, $500.00, etc. See last column in prize list. All subscriptions in this contest must be paid in advance.

Closing Date

The Great Elephant Puzzle Contest Will Close
 Thursday, March 29, 1928.

Here Is The Great Prize List

Note: The value of the prize depends on how much you pay on your subscription with your solution in the triplet elephant game. The amount paid will be applied to the daily and Sunday Constitution: Daily only or tri-weekly subscriptions not accepted in this contest, and no solution will be registered unless accompanied by at least $5.00 for six months' subscription. The least amount is $5.00 for six months' subscription, or the largest amount required is $9.50 for twelve months' subscription.

Both the solution and subscription must be sent in at the same time in same envelope.

Fourth Prize .....	75.00	250.00
Fifth Prize .....	40.00	100.00
Sixth Prize .....	20.00	50.00
Seventh to Thirtieth Prizes .....	5.00	25.00
Total .....	$1,130.00	$4,000.00

DECIDING TIES---IF ANY

40	34	65	74	24	95	64	38	91	75
00	80	28	00	73	36	84	20	05	02
75	86	00	93	72	52	27	93	29	58
58	63	92	38	05	27	40	92	27	83
72	25	39	92	64	58	20	72	85	28
36	72	94	28	00	68	72	58	95	20

In case of ties, a second puzzle, like the accompanying chart, except larger, will be presented for those tied to solve. The problem will consist of drawing a continuous chain across the chart encircling the figures in the circles. If necessary to eliminate further ties, the puzzle, with combinations changed, will be presented for as many as five more times, after which, should any ties exist, each tying contestant will receive the full amount of any prizes tied for.

In case there are no ties on counting elephants no other puzzle, of course, will be presented.

Travel and Pedestrian Accident Insurance

Issued to annual subscribers and immediate members of a subscriber's family of ages from 15 to 70 at $1.25 per policy each per year. This fee is in addition to the subscription price. Applicants should give name in full, state age and occupation, and when a beneficiary is given be sure to state full Christian name and relationship to the insured.

This insurance feature is separate and independent, and has no connection whatsoever with the elephant contest. Those subscribing for twelve months are eligible to this insurance if desired, but it is entirely optional. This is a feature that is offered to all subscribers of the daily and Sunday Constitution.

Important Facts To Remember

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning an award, it does affect the amount you will receive should you win, as the value of these awards is determined by what the winners submit in subscription money. This is explained in the awards list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution. The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning an award. Accuracy is what counts. Not more than one award will be awarded to any one person.

Crowded Auditorium Attests to Success Of Big 'Home Show' of Junior Chamber

That the Southern Building and Household exposition at the auditorium this week is a distinct success has been indicated by the attendance in the first two days, it was declared Tuesday by officers of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is conducting the big "home show." With the advent of warmer weather and the sunshine which will put young couples into a home-building frame of mind, the attendance is expected to increase rapidly, and the total for the week is expected to run far into the thousands.

New ideas for home-planners are found on every hand at the show, which covers the entire main floor of the auditorium. There are half a dozen types of coal furnaces in close competition with their oil-burning neighbors. There are various types of interior finish for walls and ceilings, roofing material of many kinds, and hardware handsome enough for a jeweler's window. Equipment for the completed home is shown by several dealers in electrical conveniences, furniture and household conveniences. A large orchestra gives concerts every afternoon and night, and varied entertainment features are provided by the Junior Chamber.

ROME AIR DERBY ATTRACTING MANY FAMOUS AVIATORS

Rome, Ga., March 20.—(Special.)—With many entries and preliminary arrangements completed for the Rome air derby, March 23, 24 and 25, Manager Jimmie Bathrick said that the only thing that can prevent the great event will be the weather. "I am highly elated over the array of talent that is coming to Rome to participate in this derby," he said. "Recently I had an unexpected entry in the person of Dr. H. C. Ellis and Miss Gene Durant. Both of these people gained international prominence a few weeks ago at St. Petersburg, Fla., when Miss Durant's parachute became entangled in the running gear of Dr. Ellis' ship and she hung in midair, dangling helplessly at the end of her captive chute. The cool and collected mind of her pilot, Dr. Ellis, saved the day and he wrecked his ship, but enabled the girl to land with only minor injuries." Other pilots of note who are coming to Rome are Ira Williams, of Spartanburg, S. C., in his specially-built Eagle Hawk; Jimmie Knoll, the flying pilot and former football star at Auburn, known as "the flying foot"; One-Wing Stone, a graduate of Kelley field; Johnny Kiddle and his fleet Swallow plane; Sam Culpepper, George Sheels, an Alabama flier; Charles Myers, coming direct to Rome from the Waco factory at Troy, Ohio; Mark Johnson, of Augusta; Douglas Davis, Atlanta; Beeler Blevins, flying the sister ship of the "Spirit of St. Louis;" Ben Falkner, air mail pilot, and a number of others.

SILENT NORTHLAND HOLDS FLIERS' FATE

Seward, Alaska, March 20.—(AP)—Failure today was efforts to communicate by radio with Captain George Hubert Wilkins, who with his pilot, Lieutenant Carl Ben Eielson, yesterday reached Point Barrow, Alaska, on the first hop of a projected flight to explore the Arctic "blind spot."

Possibility that the explorers may have crashed their plane in making the landing or were having trouble in operation of their radio were seen here after continuous attempts to get a response from Wilkins had been fruitless.

Captain Robert Woolverton, United States radio officer of the Seward and inter-Alaska districts, heard the splutter of the plane's wireless transmitter from the time of the hop-off at Fairbanks until Wilkins' laconic message "going to land, going to land," was received.

Query is Unanswered.

The officer was unable today to get a reply from the explorers during more than three hours of continuous effort. Before Wilkins' departure, he arranged with Captain Woolverton for a regular schedule of communication. Captain Woolverton said, Wilkins' failure to adhere to the schedule as reply to calls of this station may have been due to smashing of the plane in landing, or delay in getting a motor generator started at Point Barrow into action. He suggested Wilkins may have found the generator unfit for use without an overhauling.

YOUNG FLIER OFF IN ATTEMPT TO SET ENDURANCE MARK

St. Paul, Minn., March 20.—(AP)—Gen. Shapka, youthful aviator, took off from the ice at White Bear lake near here at 1:17 p. m. today in an attempt to establish a new endurance flight record.

Saved from trip to hospital

Doctor told this man how to avoid a common cause of rupture

In good shape again

LIKE so many, this man had a slight tendency to hernia. The doctor who examined him said there was no real rupture, only a weakness.

"Go easy," he warned, "and above all don't strain yourself in any way. One of the most common causes of rupture is excessive straining to relieve a congested system. Yet so few people ever suspect it. For one thing, take Nujol regularly. It will probably save you a trip to the hospital. I advise all my patients who've had abdominal operations to take it, too, to avoid the danger of another break."

Nujol, taken regularly, avoids this risk. It provides an easy, natural method of regulating body functions. Keeps everything normal without effort. It not only prevents the excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but aids in their removal.

A surprising number of people—men especially—are susceptible to hernia. Take a tip from this man's experience and play safe. Take Nujol regularly. Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). Try it for 3 months and you'll never want to be without it again.

It certainly can do no harm to try it. Nujol contains absolutely no drugs or medicine. And it may save you real trouble. Be sure you get the genuine.

SYNOPSIS

Kather Rowe, a young nurse, having accompanied an invalid from the United States to Cannes on the Riviera, is about to return to New York when she sees an advertisement in the paper for a nurse and doctor's assistant and she decides to apply for the job in order to spend a little time in Cannes.

While waiting for an answer to her application to Dr. Mariorius Kather treats herself to tea at the fashionable Restaurant des Ambassadeurs. She becomes interested in the conversation of a beautiful French woman and her escort, an Englishman, who sit at the next table. On returning to her hotel Kather finds a note from the doctor asking her to report in the morning.

The beautiful French woman of the restaurant comes to see Dr. Mariorius and Kather learns that she is Lady Clifford. A few days later her husband, Sir Charles Clifford, is stricken with typhoid fever and Dr. Mariorius gives up his practice and laboratory work to devote himself exclusively to Sir Charles. Kather is taken on the case as day nurse, that he has changed his will to the extent of making her executor and trustee of his whole estate. Roger is attracted to Kather and invites her to dine and dance with him. They go to one of the fashionable restaurants in Cannes.

On returning to the house Roger comes upon his stepmother in the darkened drawing room with Arthur Holliday, who has been paying Lady Clifford some attention. Roger orders Holliday to leave the house.

The next day Sir Charles breaks the news to his wife that he has named his son executor of his estate. His wife, Lady Clifford, is shocked and his son, Miss Clifford, offers him one of her remedies. In trying to open the bottle Roger breaks it and cuts his hand. Kather is called in to bind up the cut and in her hurry she mislays the doctor's hypodermic needle which he has just used on Sir Charles. The doctor is unwarrantably angry with her over this carelessness. Two days later Sir Charles dies. Kather finds the doctor's needle but instead of returning it to him she takes it to a chemist for analysis. The next day Lady Clifford dismisses her.

INSTALLMENT XLV. A HORRIBLE REVELATION.

Miss Clifford took Kather's hand and gave it a squeeze, a troubled frown wrinkling her forehead.

"I wish I knew what to do about Roger. I am sure he has kept going by sheer will-power and obstinacy. I am so afraid I shall have all the same dreadful uncertainty over again just as I did with poor Charles."

"O, no, he's a young man, remember," Kather reassured her quickly. "He will be all right, only you must persuade him to go to bed."

"I persuaded him to lie down after lunch, and he's sound asleep," she said. "Chalmers tells me, I wonder if I ought to tell him you're going? He'll be so cross when he finds out."

"Not on any account," Kather said. "I'll be so firm, it would be wrong to disturb him."

"Well, au revoir, my dear! I'm very sorry, indeed, and I shall miss you. I shall never forget how kind you were to my brother."

Her brown eyes filled with tears as she kissed Kather's cheek.

There was no sign of the doctor when Kather slowly descended to the entrance hall. She would have liked to slip away by herself, but it was too late; Chalmers had just placed her luggage on the back of the chemist's car; she met him coming back. Mr. Chalmers had intended to stop at the chemist's on her way down, now, of course she dared not do it. What Miss Clifford had said about Roger's symptoms and the dreadful uncertainty that suddenly she felt she must before she quitted the house. Who could say what might happen once she got away?

Was there anything she could do? It would be late, perhaps too late, before she would have a chance of reaching the chemist, the shop might be closed. Her eye fell on the little clockroom back of her stairs, where the telephone was kept. Of course—she had a minute to spare now, what was to prevent her telephoning? The chemist spoke English, she could make him understand.

She slipped into the little room and rapidly searched in the telephone book for the name—Cailler. Ah, here it was! With gratifying dispatch she got the connection, heard a voice which she recognized as belonging with the curly blond head.

"Allo, allo! Oui, c'est bien—ah, yes, it is the Pharmacie Cailler, yes, yes. What is it you say? Report? Report of what? Needle? Hypodermic needle? . . . But, yes, yes, mademoiselle, it has been sent already to your address, it came this afternoon, so we have sent it to you."

What was this? A suspicious crept into her mind.

"Yes, yes, monsieur, I'm afraid it must have gone wrong. Could you possibly look it up and tell me over the telephone what the report was? It is rather important."

Gripping the receiver hard she held her breath, straining her ear for the reply. It followed without hesitation, distinct and clear.

"But certainly, mademoiselle. I can tell you. The needle contained, out of simplicity, what one calls in English the pure toxin of typhoid."

"Toxin of typhoid?"

The words died in her throat, the receiver dropped clattering to the floor. For an instant she sat as though paralyzed, her dry lips parted, her eyes staring in front of her. Then with a sudden rush the horrible truth swept upon her, overwhelming her utterly. Curiously enough, it seemed as though she had always known it from the first. How could she have shut her eyes to the fact? Incidents, motives, all, suddenly fitted together like parts of a puzzle moved into place. It was all clear now; she saw the entire plan, so simple, so natural, so diabolically clever—the unsuspecting old man being done to death by a natural disease that was prevalent at the time, while every effort was made to save him, all the world looking on—"see, just to show you there's no deception"—all open and above board, only the one flaw which she, by accident, had hit upon. Yes, she alone of all the household had held the clue in her hand, and had not had the wit to use it, to follow it up! Fool, fool that she was!

The first inspections were iron and arsenic, just what they pretended to be, only the last one was the pure toxin, renewing and intensifying the disease beyond hope of salvation. Even if she had known then, it would still have been too late to rescue Sir Charles, but then there was Roger. Was he, too, an intended victim? Was another murder in progress? She jumped to her feet, pushed open the door blindly, ready to fly up the stairs and warn him of his danger, tell him all she knew.

For the second time that day she ran bolt into the dignified person of the butler, who was descending on his way to the stairs. She pulled herself up and spoke to him in a choking voice.

"Chalmers, for God's sake, wake Mr. Roger at once! Tell him I have something to say to him. Tell him it's very important!"

"Yes, miss, certainly."

Without betraying the least amazement at her husky voice and trembling hands, the butler mounted the stairs steadily to do her bidding. She remained where she was, clutching the back of one of the tall Stuart chairs, listening to the man's measured tread and her own hammering heartbeats. Why wouldn't he hurry? Still it would be all right now, she had found out in time. Thank God she had telephoned, thank God she knew. Yes, she alone of all the household had held the clue in her hand, and had not had the wit to use it, to follow it up! Fool, fool that she was!

There was a slight movement behind her, she jumped apprehensively, suddenly suspecting that someone was behind the clockroom door she had so rapidly thrown open. She turned to see who it could be, but she was not quick enough. In that instant a thick hand closed over her mouth, completely gagging her, while a huge arm that seemed like the limb of a tree or the python of her dream coiled around her with powerful force. She squirmed, panted, choked, a horrible panic seized her. Then in the upper part of her left arm she felt a sharp stab, piercing through her clothing deep into her flesh.

Five minutes later Roger, hastily attired in his shirt, trousers and dressing gown, his eyes heavy with sleep and fever, descended the stairs and looked inquiringly about. The hall was empty.

"Why, where has she got to?" he murmured in perplexity, then rang the bell and called for Chalmers at the same time.

The butler appeared without delay. "Where is Miss Rowe, Chalmers?" he asked without preliminaries.

"Yes, dear, about a quarter of an hour ago. She came to say good-by."

"Good-by! You don't mean she's left me? Why, what does that mean?"

"Well, my dear, I was as much astonished as you. It seems that Therese dismissed her about ten minutes ago, simply said she didn't need her any longer."

INSANITY VERDICT IN THREE MINUTES

Cusseta, Ga., March 20.—(AP)—In less than three minutes a jury in Chattahoochee superior court today returned a verdict of insanity in the trial of Robert L. Harp, Jr., 20, charged with murder in connection with the slaying of his father and directed that he be committed to the state hospital for the insane.

Harp was indicted yesterday.

The youth, who formerly was an inmate of the insane asylum, on January 11 slew his father and mother with an "x" and when questioned by officers said he was afraid they were going to return him to the asylum.

Counsel for the youth today pleaded insanity, contending that Harp "is now insane and incapable of conferring with his attorneys to determine a plea for his defense."

The state offered no testimony and defense witnesses testified that the youth suffered hallucinations.

FIVE BURGLARIES REPORTED TO POLICE

An epidemic of minor burglaries Monday night was reported Tuesday, coincident with the arrest of George Bagwell and John Entwistle, of 416 Glenn street, on charges of burglarizing the McDaniel street department store at 828 McDaniel street, S. W., according to police.

The two suspects were arrested by Patrolman A. E. Davis and W. F. Russell, and a quantity of stolen goods recovered, police said.

Other burglaries were reported by the following places: Grocery store of J. G. Gustin, at 478 McDaniel street; grocery store of J. R. Russ, at 367 Edgewood avenue, N. E.; Log Cabin Filling station, at Edgewood avenue and Jackson street, and the Whitehall, losses were small at each place.

16 To Be Chosen For Fashion Show At Howard Today

Sixteen Atlanta beauties who will participate in the spring fashion show to be staged by the George Muse Clothing company at the Howard theater the week of April 2 will be selected by judges at 9:30 o'clock this morning at the Howard.

The judges will choose from approximately 250 applicants who answered an appeal for pretty and graceful girls broadcast several days ago by The Constitution on behalf of the theater.

All applicants have been notified to be at the Howard promptly at 9:30 o'clock this morning, and at that time all will be in readiness for the elimination contest which will result in definite selection of the lucky thirteen. These will wear the most gorgeous sports, afternoon, morning and evening costumes from the Muse company's spring stocks during the fashion show, being paid for their participation.

Georgia School Children Will Exchange Easter Greetings With North

Georgia school children will exchange floral greetings this Easter with children of the schools of New Hampshire, it was announced Tuesday by Dr. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools. In a letter received from Ernest W. Butterfield, commissioner of education of New Hampshire, a proposal was made that 100 schools of that state exchange Easter greetings with 100 selected Georgia schools.

Dr. Duggan expressed approval of the idea and said 100 Georgia schools would be asked to accept the gifts from the 100 schools of New Hampshire and to respond to this greeting by sending in turn 100 boxes of flowers from this state.

DR. JOSEPH JACOBS ON LIBRARY BOARD

Dr. Joseph Jacobs, prominent Atlanta business man and president of

DR. JOSEPH JACOBS.

Jacobs' Pharmacy company, was appointed as a member of the state library commission Tuesday by Governor

L. G. Hardman to succeed Orger Westbrook, of Columbus, whose term of office has expired.

For many years Dr. Jacobs and Governor Hardman have been close personal friends. They were drawn together particularly in the movement to honor the memory of Dr. Crawford W. Long, discoverer of the use of ether as an anesthetic. Dr. Hardman aided in a movement to erect a monument to Dr. Long at Jefferson, Ga., old home of Dr. Long.

It was due largely to the efforts of Dr. Jacobs that a statue of Dr. Long was placed in the national hall of fame at Washington, D. C. Two citizens of each state are placed in this hall of fame, the Georgia citizens selected for this honor being Dr. Long and Alexander H. Stephens, former governor and vice president of the Confederacy.

Dr. Jacobs will assume his duties at once as member of the state library commission. This is an important post as the state library at the capitol is a regular state department and its affairs are administered by the library commission.

NATIONAL SURETY COMPANY CLOSES 2-DAY CONFERENCE

Representatives of the National Surety company from five states in the southeast concluded a two-day district conference at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel Tuesday with forecast of one of the brightest years in the history of the company. Prominent officials from the New York home office were in attendance.

Howard Osborn, special agent of New York, was principal speaker at the closing session of the conference. Among the head officials attending the conference were John L. Mea, vice president and superintendent of agents, of New York; T. D. Brown, vice president, of New York; Sherman Drake, head of the burglary insurance department, New York, and Percival Wiles, vice president, of New Jersey.

Popularity of the noon day union services being held at the First Baptist church under joint auspices of the Atlanta Christian council and the Evangelical Ministers' association continued to increase Tuesday as a large congregation gathered to hear the second sermon delivered by the Rev. Dr. H. H. Crossfield, pastor of the First Christian church, of Birmingham.

Speaking on the subject of "Formal and Vital Religion," the speaker declared that religion is a personal matter between every individual and his God. He scored religions which confine themselves to mere observance of forms.

Dr. Crossfield is occupying the pulpit all this week, the fourth of a series of six weeks' services which have been arranged under personal supervision of James Morton, executive secretary, in collaboration with leading Protestant ministers and laymen of the Atlanta district. Practically every Protestant congregation in Atlanta and Fulton county is cooperating.

The Rev. Dr. Gerald Culbertson, pastor of the West End Christian church, presided at the service Tuesday. Today the Rev. Dr. Wallace Rogers, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church, will preside and Dr. Crossfield will speak on "Religion of Forgiveness."

Dr. Paul C. Linebeck, of the First Christian church and who occupies a professorship in medicine at Emory university, is leading the singing this week, and Mrs. Arthur McCreary, of the Gordon Street Baptist church, is presiding at the piano.

Ittamar Ben Avi To Speak Sunday At U.P.A. Dinner

Climaxing the inspirational impetus given Atlanta Jewry within the past few months by the presence here of some of the world's foremost Jewish contemporaries, the visit of Ittamar Ben Avi to speak at a dinner at 6 o'clock Sunday night in the Jewish Woman's club under auspices of the United Palestine Appeal, will be a notable event in the history of the local Jewish community.

This was a statement made Tuesday by I. J. Paradies, prominent Atlanta merchant and chairman of the U. P. A., in discussing the announcement that the noted Palestinian editor would include Atlanta on the itinerary of his American tour.

"As an orator, journalist and publicist, Ittamar Ben Avi has few peers in his field," Mr. Paradies said. "By bringing such men to Atlanta it is more possible to spread the incentive to greatness than in any other way. The enthusiasm with which Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and Mrs. Irma L. Lindebaum were received on their recent visits is indication of the thirst for contact with genius that is alive in the spirits of this community."

HIS ACHEs, PAINs, ALL WENT AWAY

"After I Took Black-Draught, I Improved Wonderfully," Says Virginian Who Had Just Been Dragging Along.

Coeburn, Va.—"I have found great relief in using Black-Draught for constipation," says Mr. Stephen Landon Buchanan, of this place.

"I have been bothered with spells of constipation, more or less, for years. Often I would experience considerable discomfort.

"I had the headache, felt dull and lifeless, and had no inclination to do my work. Everything I had to do dragged along, and it took quite an effort on my part to get anything done.

"I had these symptoms quite often, and sometimes I would have pains caused from accumulation of gas which gave me a lot of trouble.

"I tried several medicines, but the best of them did me little good.

"I had read about Black-Draught, so I thought it might be a good thing for me. It was recommended by people who were suffering in the same way that I was, and so I made up my mind to try it.

"I found that it was all that people said it was. After I had taken Black-Draught, I improved wonderfully. I did not have any more headache, and the gas pains left me.

"Most of my trouble came from constipation, and when the cause was removed, I felt fine." Sold everywhere.

Miss Bowden Weds Hugh Dobbins, Of Atlanta, at Brilliant Ceremony

Thomson, Ga., March 20.—The marriage of Miss Sarah Doss Bowden and Hugh Clayton Dobbins, of Atlanta, was brilliantly solemnized Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bowden, before a large assemblage of relatives and friends, including a number of out-of-town guests. Rev. Lee Algood, the bride's uncle, read the marriage service, which was preceded by an appropriate musical program. Miss Katherine Melson, of Accomac, Va., sang "For You Alone," accompanied by Mrs. E. C. Hawes, of Thomson, at the piano. Charles Curtis, of Thomson, sang "Until" and "Oh Perfect Love," accompanied by Mrs. Melson.

The broad stairway, down which the wedding attendants descended, was garlanded with ropes of smilax, studded at intervals with clusters of Easter lilies. An aisle was formed from the bottom of the stairway into the living room, where the marriage rites were performed by graceful floor baskets overflowing with Easter lilies, and connected by wide white satin ribbon. The bride's train was a bank of palms in which floor baskets of Easter lilies were artistically arranged at intervals. Amongst the foliage cathedral candelabra holding white burning tapers were placed, the rays of which shed a soft glow over the lovely scene.

The entire lower floor of the handsome home was illuminated by candlelight from tapers of pastel shades. Narcissus and various shades of gladioli were used in abundance in the decoration of the spacious rooms. In the dining room an effective color motif of green and white was artistically carried out. The bride's table was overlaid with a Venetian lace cover and adorned in the center by a beautiful wedding cake resting on a plateau of valley lilies. Silver candelsticks held white tapers decorated with delicate sprays of valley lilies, which enhanced the beauty of the table decoration. The guests' places were designated by exquisite white paper lilies.

Wedding Attendants.

The first to enter the altar room was Rev. Lee Algood, who was followed by the ribbon bearer, Miss Virginia Willis, of Atlanta, niece of the groom. She wore a pink tulle dress with a shoulder bouquet of pink sweet peas.

Miss Elizabeth Spence, of Camilla, Ga., who acted as bridesmaid, entered with the groomsmen, Richard Bowden, of Augusta, the bride's brother. Miss Spence was an attractive figure, wearing a gown of pink tulle, with a shoulder bouquet of pink sweet peas. She wore satin slippers to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses fringed with valley lilies. Miss Lucile Bowden, the bride's sister, was a charming maid-of-honor, wearing a gown of flesh-colored chiffon trimmed in cream lace and featuring the period style. Her arm bouquet was of pink roses and valley lilies.

Little Miss Mary Ida Urey, of Thomson, who acted as flower girl, preceded the bride. She wore a dainty frock of flesh-colored chiffon and carried a small basket of pink roses and pink sweet peas. The bride was accompanied down the stairway by her father, Paul Bowden, who gave her in marriage. The groom was escorted into the altar room by his brother, Paul H. Dobbins, of Atlanta, who acted as best man.

Beautiful Bride.

The bride's exquisite beauty was enhanced by her lace wedding gown posed over lustrous white satin. The hemline of the graceful skirt was outlined by lace points traced with tiny rhinestones. A handsome rhinestone ornament held the modish skirt at the left side, while white satin slippers adorned with small rhinestone buckles completed the elegant costume. Her bridal veil was confined to her dark brown hair by tiny clusters of orange blossoms, the veil falling to train length in graceful folds. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies.

Several hundred guests were entertained at an elaborate reception which followed the marriage service. Mrs. Bowden, the bride's mother, wore a handsome gown of flowered chiffon with a shoulder bouquet of valley lilies and pink sweet peas.

Mrs. Walter Clayton Dobbins, the groom's mother, was wearing a black lace veiling black chiffon, fashioned on straight lines. Her shoulder bouquet was of gardenias.

Mrs. Luther D. Laughridge, sister of the groom, was an attractive figure wearing a Mikrim model of champagne green chiffon. A shoulder spray of orchids completed her costume.

Mr. Dobbins and his bride left in the late evening for New York by motor, from where they will sail for the Bermudas. After April 10 they will be at home at the Georgian Terrace hotel, Atlanta.

Among the guests from a distance attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dobbins, Jr., Dr. D. O. Bowden and John Leiby, subject matter of Accomac, Va.; Miss Elizabeth Spence, of Camilla, and Mrs. Ruth Barnes, of Macon.

The bride is a representative of a prominent Georgia family. She graduated from Wesleyan Female college, Macon; Curry School of Expression, Boston, and Sargent School of Dramatic Art, New York city. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Bowden, of Thomson, and granddaughter of the late J. W. Minter, of Macon, and the late Rev. John M. Bowden, of the North Georgia conference, M. E. church, south-gate conference.

Mr. Dobbins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clayton Dobbins, of Atlanta, and is numbered among the city's most prominent young business men. He has been associated in the life insurance business since 1914 with his father and his brother, Paul H. Dobbins.

Miss Kay Weds Jacob Batt At Lovely Home Ceremony

Miss Katherine Kay, lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kay, became the bride of Jacob Batt, at 3 o'clock Saturday evening at the Key home on Clifton road.

Dr. G. W. Gasque, of the Church of Incarnation, read the marriage service. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with quantities of Easter lilies combined with palms and ferns.

Miss Ruth Cathey was the bride's maid of honor and Mrs. Earle Winfred Dahlberg acted as matron of honor. The bridesmaids included Misses Elizabeth Ann Woodruff, of Springfield, Mo., cousin of the bride, and Miss Ella Mae Shilkette.

All of the attendants wore gowns of taffeta, fashioned robe de style, and featuring the shades of turquoise blue, peach, yellow and pink. Arm bouquets of Opheia roses completed the becoming costumes.

Miss Amy Joe Kay, small cousin of the bride, was the flower girl and the ribbon-bearer was little Miss Sue Caroline Woodruff.

Mr. Batt had as his best man Forrest Traylor and the groomsmen were Otis Wells and Ralph Soule. The brunette beauty of the bride was enhanced by her wedding gown of ivory tinted pussy willow taffeta, fashioned robe de style and in embroidered in an elaborate design of silver threads. Her bridal veil was of rare duchesse lace, a valuable heirloom in her family, and it was caught to her dark hair with clusters of orange blossoms. The bride carried a white prayer book showered with lilies of the valley and small white rosebuds. Her only jewelry consisted of a platinum and diamond bracelet, a gift of the groom.

Mr. Batt and his bride left immediately following the ceremony for an extensive wedding journey to Havana, Cuba, and upon their return will make their home at 866 Clifton road.

The out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Orton Palmer, Mrs. Claude Woodruff and daughters, Elizabeth Ann and Sue Caroline, all of Springfield, Mo.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kay and is very talented in music, being a graduate of the Atlanta Conservatory of Music in both violin and voice, and a prominent figure in musical circles of the city.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Batt, of Burlington, Kans., and has made his home in Atlanta for several years.

Mrs. Kay, mother of the bride, wore for the occasion black chiffon, embroidered in French flowers.

Mrs. S. F. Palmer, of Springfield, Mo., grandmother of the bride, was handsomely gowned in powder blue georgette.

Shannon-Harmon Wedding Is Beautiful Church Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Susie Louise Shannon and Newton Judson Harmon, Jr., was a beautiful affair, taking place at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Capitol View Baptist church. The Rev. W. Lee Cutts performed the ceremony in the presence of a representative gathering of Atlanta society.

The altar of the church, which was banked with palms and evergreens, held magnificent vases of pink roses interspersed with tall cathedral candles holding slender white burning tapers, which cast a soft glow over the scene.

Proceeding the ceremony a delightful program of musical music was rendered. Gladstone Purseley, well-known soloist, singing "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. J. C. Williams at the piano. "Hearts and Flowers" formed a dulcet toned accompaniment throughout the impressive ceremony.

The bridal party.

The groomsmen were Lyatt McMichael, cousin of the groom; A. G. De Vaughn and Earl Richardson.

Miss Elizabeth Sharp, who acted as maid of honor, wore a charming sleeveless model of pink tulle, fastened with basque waist and full skirt, trimmed in silver lace. The attractive V-neck line was a feature of the gown.

A shower bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas tied with pink tulle in matching shade, completed the artistic costume.

Misses Jean and Mary Cooke and Miss Irene Pannell, the bridesmaids, wore dresses of Nile green, peach and orchid taffeta, respectively, fashioned along similar lines as that of the maid of honor. Their flowers were hand-picked bouquets of pink roses and sweet peas tied with delicate shades of tulle.

The dainty little flower girls, Misses Dorothy Acree and Lois Suder, wore charming little frocks of pink crepe de chine showered with hand-made crepe de chine flowers, and offset with a deep bertha. The right shoulder held a dainty blue ribbon rosette from which graceful streamers fell to the end of the skirt. They carried baskets of pink roses.

The lovely bride, who entered with her father, John M. Shannon, by whom she was given in marriage, was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, James Harmon, of Savannah, brother of the groom. She was never more attractive than in her wedding robe of white satin, which was made with tight waist and full skirt falling in pointed hem-line, the whole being showered with dainty rose pearls, which also outlined the V-neck and sleeveless armholes. Her court train of white tulle was partially covered by the graceful veil of the same material, which was made cap shape, being caught to the hair across the front by a band of orange blossoms. She wore white satin slippers trimmed with orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley was artistically tied with streamers of white tulle. A diamond and pearl brooch completed the costume.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 1303 Allene avenue. Palm and cut spring flowers, artistically arranged in baskets, the shades of yellow predominating, formed the decorations for the lovely home, which was thrown en suite for the occasion. Mrs. John M. Shannon, mother of the bride, wore a charming model of gray georgette offset with a bouquet of lavender orchids. The young couple will make their home at 1303 Allene avenue.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 20.—(P.) Charges of dry law violation against F. D. M. Strachan, wealthy Savannah and Brunswick shipping man, have been dismissed, but his $80,000 yacht, Roamer, is held and faces the possibility of being libelled, federal officials said today.

Strachan was arrested and charged, together with the yacht's captain, Alfred Thordor Nielson, and four Negro members of the crew, with the liquor violation when coast guardsmen of the Fernandina base searched the yacht and found 41 bottles of whisky.

United States Commissioner Carl Noble, hearing charges against Strachan, held there was no evidence that the whisky was for sale, and dismissed Strachan. The yacht is held pending a report from the customs office to the libel division of the district attorney's office.

John Farrell Wins La Gorce Open With Low Medal of 274

Cracker Outfield Problem Solved With Securing of Max West

Record of 63 In Last Round Brings Victory

Farrell and Cruickshank Both Shoot 30's Going Out in Final Round.

Miami Beach, Fla., March 20.—(AP) Flashing a dazzling brand of golf to shoot a 63 in the final 18 holes for a new course record, Johnny Farrell, Marmaroneck, N. Y., won the $5,000 first money in the $15,000 LaGorce open golf tournament with a total of 274 for the 72 holes.

Bobby Cruickshank, New York, two strokes back of Farrell with 276 won second place and a $2,500 slice of the big purse, while Joe Kirkwood, of Albany, Ga., took the third cut of $1,000 with a 279.

Others finishing in the first ten were as follows: Harry Hampton, Chicago, 282; Gene Sarazen, Newport Richey, Fla., 283; Tommy Armour, Washington, national open champion, 285; Harry Cooper, Buffalo, N. Y., 286; Al Espinosa, Chicago, 288; Lloyd Gulickson, Cleveland, 288; and George Voigt, Washington, 288.

Birdies. Farrell's dazzling 63 was eight under par for the course, and included six birdies and an eagle, with not a hole above par figures.

Cruickshank was out in the first nine of the afternoon round in 30, but after that played a safe steady game to play the final nine in 39, even par.

Farrell played a spectacular game throughout the afternoon, taking long chances for birdies and eagles. It was a distinct departure from the usual game, for the young pro who was one of the leading winners last year. On the seventeenth, with the tournament apparently within his grasp, a 440-yard par 5 hole, after a drive of 225 yards and with a choice between two safe iron shots or a wood club, and a mighty whang, Farrell chose the latter and landed within 18 feet of the pin. He missed an eagle 3 by inches and took an easy 4.

Cruickshank started the afternoon one stroke under Farrell and one behind Sarazen who led the field at the close of the morning round. Collecting five birdies to make the first nine in 30, Cruickshank made every shot safe and did not learn of Farrell's phenomenal shooting until he stood on the 15th green with a short putt between himself and the end of the play. He took fully five minutes to study the shot before he made it.

Leads Field. Sarazen, a prime favorite to win, led the field yesterday and at the close of the morning round, but was off his game for the first nine in the afternoon round, after learning of Cruickshank's remarkable drive. He recovered somewhat on the last nine to come in with 35 for the 74 in the final 18.

Form and Timing.

It's a rather easy matter to compare this game of trap shooting to the game of golf. Probably in no other game but golf are form and timing so all-important as in this thing of breaking little clay targets with a scatter gun.

Sitting back with the gallery the task of smashing every clay as it leaves the trap house looks as simple as falling off a log or any other object hard to sit upon. But if you will watch the topmost shots of the gang you will be struck with the fact that their form is just about the same.

Once in a long while you will find the exception among the good shots who crouches extremely when he calls for the target and you will find the man like Harold McKenzie, one of the best shots in the south, who stands "off-balance" with feet spread along a line at right angles to the line of flight of the target. But most of them use about the same form at the post just as most good golfers use about the same form at the tee and on the fairway.

Just as in golf you will find the fast shooter and the slow shooter both breaking targets. Among the good shots at the Dixie shoot are Harry Lanier, state champion; Charlie Skinner, of Waynesboro; H. D. Freeman, of Atlanta, and Arthur Cusaden, professional, who all shoot very rapidly. They drop their targets inside the 34-yard line all the time, even on bad angles, and such shooting is pretty and looks much easier than the slow style.

On the other side of the fence you will find Harold McKenzie, a comparatively slow shooter, who had a year-long average in 1927 of nearly 97 per cent. W. R. Beckwith, of Tampa, another veteran and a 95 per cent shooter, belongs in the slow class.

Many times the fast shooter is only fast in the act of getting on the target, while others call rapidly for targets. Probably the greatest example of this latter type is Charlie Skinner, who calls for his target when the target of the man ahead of him has not hit the ground.

It is interesting, too, to watch the difference in the way different shooters call for their targets. Some of them "coax" the target with a soft call, while others, Skinner and Freeman, growl like an infuriated dog when they want the target.

Just To Make It Complete.

Every sport has its "daddy," the man who is looked to for advice and who is revered by all the others in the sport. In southern trap shooting that man is "Heck" Andrews, of Spartanburg, vice president of the Amateur Trapshooters' Association of the United States, and is one of the boys at the Dixie shoot.

"He," as he is called by all the shooters, young and old, is as fine a gentleman as ever stood at a firing post in peace or war. He is a fine shot and finds time to attend almost every shoot of any account in the United States. A shoot without Heck Andrews would not be complete.

Out This Time.

For the first time since the memory of man goes not to the contrary H. N. Alford and J. C. Wright will not be eligible to figure in the high over all trophy at an Atlanta shoot. Dr. Wright only started shooting Tuesday and only took 100 targets in the singles, while Dr. Alford also shot but 100 of the 200 singles.

For many years both of these Atlanta aces have figured in the high over all awards and this is the first shoot at the Atlanta Gun club in at least 100 years that has not seen the names of Alford and Wright in every event and shooting every target offered.

Got It, Anyhow.

Bulletin Lead—Arthur Cusaden, rotund professional from Tampa, is believed to have hit a target on the first bounce in the doubles Tuesday. It came about in this way, according to eye-witnesses: Arthur, shooting a pump gun, pulled on the right-hand bird and powdered it but the shell failed to chamber for the second shot and by the time he had manipulated the gun by main force the target was near the ground. Bent upon using the shell at any cost, Arthur fired down over the hill just as the target hit the brush. There was much argument among the galleries but most of them agree that Arthur got the target on the first bounce.

Rhiel, Lopez And Tremper Come to Crax

Niehoff and Spiller Secure Four Players From Robinson at Clearwater.

BY BEN COTHMAN.

Colonel Rell Jackson Spiller and Skipper Bert Niehoff, president and manager, respectively, of the Atlanta Crackers, start home tonight from Clearwater, Fla., feeling slightly satisfied over the results of a hunt for players, which has been under way since Sunday last.

For one thing, the skipper has solved his outfield problem. Not only that, he has secured four youngsters, everyone of them rated as A-1 ball players.

Heading the list is Max West, last year with Waco in the Texas league, where he hit .352 while playing the outfield. Reports from Clearwater, where he has been training with the Brooklyn Dodgers, for whom the four players were secured, have it that West is hitting the ball as hard as ever and covers the outfield just like a soup stain does a Tux front.

Young.

West is only 23 years old and the Crackers have been after him for some three or more weeks. He will add the necessary punch to the outfield, and though he isn't a left-handed hitter, he comes up to the skipper's expectations.

Then, Billy Rhiel is coming back to the Crackers. Not to play second base, but the outfield. Billy can chase fly-balls in effective fashion and hit a great deal better. Last year he played second base most of the time, but the infield isn't the place for him. It may be that Billy will be forced to play second base until Fred Brainerd reports, sometime in May. But if Johnny Jones, whom the Crackers bought last winter from Syracuse, ever gets to town then he can play second, while Rhiel takes hold of left field. Jones is billed as a shortstop, but Casey Mills can take care of the short-field until Brainerd gets here. Of course, Bert hasn't said what he's going to do, and probably won't. The above is just reasoning on the part of your correspondent.

Another outfielder is being brought up in the person of Overton T. mper.

Time of game, 1:50.

Tremper last year, you'll remember, joined the Dodgers after graduation from the University of Pennsylvania and remained until the end of the season. His coming was widely heralded for it appears that Tremper made the mistake of signing contracts with two teams, the Giants and the Dodgers. There was considerable wrangling and finally the Dodgers got him. It is said that Tremper is very, very fast and a good hitter.

Battle.

The fourth man is Alphonse Lopez. Right away you get the impression that name sounds very Spanish, and is. Lopez, however, is just about as much German as he is Spanish, and made a great record last year with Jacksonville in the Southeastern league. He is only 19 years old. We were talking Tuesday night to a man very closely connected with the baseball industry who had seen Lopez in action at the Dodge training camp. Lopez, so our informant says, has a wonderful arm on him, and is an all-round good catcher. He will fight it out with Tom Angley to decide which of the two will be Johnny Brooks' understudy this season.

Chuck Corgan, whom the Crackers expected to secure from the Dodgers, is suffering from a lame back and

Pick-Ups

Every time Paul Strand chases up the right field bank after a fly ball he takes it off the number of times each member of the squad is supposed to climb the thing after practice. It's a very good way to toughen up one's legs, but it certainly takes the breath out of one. Paul is of the opinion that he'll get used to it as the season progresses.

Ray Francis was as pleased Tuesday as though he had pitched a no-hit game. Ray worked out with the Crackers for the past two weeks and is much pleased with the local club's prospects.

Red Smith, former Cracker third baseman and now-manager of the Springfield, Ill., Three-Eye league team, leaves today to take over his club. Red has worked out with the Crackers for the past two weeks and is much pleased with the local club's prospects.

will be out of the game for quite some time. But this quartet which the colonel and Bert are bringing back to Atlanta looks mighty good and should put the added punch into this year's team.

REGULARS TRIM YANNIGANS, 6-4.
Tuesday the regulars, aided this time by the heavy stick of first baseman Jim Poole, made it two in a row over the yanigans in the daily row at the park, by the score of 6 to 4.

Mr. Poole contributed largely to the hits of the day with two triples to the right field bank. His first one came in the third inning and his second one in the fifth. He scored runs both times.

The Yanigans scored first when Blackstock and Mills countered in the first inning after Poole had let a throw from Walter Gilbert go away from him. They scored one in the second and third innings and that was all. The regulars made three in the second on a double by Spencer, singles by Ray Francis and Zoeller and McKinney's sacrifice.

There will be another game today, provided the weather is fair. Friday and Saturday the squad plays Oglethorpe in a two-game exhibition series.

Golfers Gather At Tallahassee
Tallahassee, Fla., March 20.—(AP)—This city will be host to a large number of golfers who will gather here

Thursday for a two-day tournament to determine the west Florida champion, to be staged by the Tallahassee Country club. The players of Valdosta, Moultrie, Quincy, Bainbridge, Thomasville, Live Oak and other sections of Georgia and Florida had entered the tournament up to tonight and others will be added daily, those in charge of the matches announced.

Lanier, State Champ, Wins Dixie Singles Title With 195

Wheeler Wins Initial Half Of 100 Doubles

Taylor, of Shreveport, Goes Out One Target Behind Lanier in Singles.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Dropping but three targets out of his first 175 Tuesday and missing but three more on the last trap, Harry Lanier, of Augusta, state champion, took the Dixie championship in singles at the shoot-out under way at the Atlanta Gun club. He was closely pressed by W. F. Taylor, of Shreveport, La., who went out with 194 when Lanier had just finished his first string of 100. Taylor, something of a dark horse in the shoot, dropped but two clays in his first 100 in the morning but the last trap saw him weaken a bit and miss three to make his afternoon string total 96 x 100.

In getting second money in the singles Taylor set a mark for the shoot by breaking 119 birds without a miss. The performance came on the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth traps. He dropped the last bird on the sixth trap to keep him out of the charmed circle of 120.

Both the 195 and 104 scores made by Lanier and Taylor are particularly high scores for this time of the year when most of the shooters have had their guns in cases since last fall. Taylor, referred to above as a dark horse, can only be termed such because he is a new shooter in these parts. He is a class A 23-yard shooter, however, and his friends from around Baton Rouge were not surprised to see him finish second to the Georgia state champion.

A bit of luck entered the picture Tuesday when the elements began to play tricks. All day Monday the shooters were bothered considerably by a wind blowing the targets down but Tuesday the wind eddied and occasional gusts of rain caught some of the squads off guard. The shooters who were lucky enough to miss the rain fared well but in a hard trap to combat when it is blowing in a shooter's face part of the time.

It was partly due to the rain that a personal winner did not emerge as high as usual. Even at that Harold McKenzie, president of the Peachtree Gun club, was tied with two others for third place in the championship run. Harold broke 193 x 200 as did H. E. Johnson, of Haines City, and H. D. Freeman, of Atlanta. All three of these men are always figured in the pre-shoot dope. Harold started by breaking 98 out of the first 100 to be tied with Lanier at noon but the rain caught him at the second trap in the afternoon and he dropped three birds at two posts. Two more went unscented at the final trap and he went out with 193, one bird under Taylor, of Shreveport.

The first 50 targets of the doubles championship furnished proof, positive proof, that shooters, like all other athletes, need seasoning to be at top form. Later in the year a score of 45-50 would be good enough to win in many cases but there would be more shooters around that figure than could be found Tuesday. H. G. Wheeler, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., broke the 45 to win the first half and there was none to tie him. Ed Flynn, of Mobile, cracked 44 out of the 50 pairs and three others were tied for third place with 43 each. These were W. R. Beckwith, of Tampa; H. N. Alford, of Atlanta, and Harry Lanier, of Augusta. It is significant that but one man in the first five doubles shooters placed in the first three brackets of the state of Georgia. Throughout the shoot thus far the dope has run true. Later in the season it is not unusual to find a "D" class shooter up around the lead for high-over-all or winning some championship event over many class "A" shooters, but at March targets the man who can step up "cold" and crack down, seemingly by instinct, is the man who goes out at the top or near there.

EXPERT CLAY-BUSTERS

To carry this dope a bit further, it is a fair guess that Harold McKenzie and Harry Lanier will occupy the first two places in the high over-all targets race for the three-day shoot. Both of these men are seasoned shooters that they are fairly consistent even at this early date.

The probabilities are that Lanier will take the high over-all trophy with the lead he now has on the field. He is two targets up on McKenzie in both events Tuesday and about even in Monday's events.

Today the second half of the championship doubles will be shot off in the morning as will the 100 mixed and 100 international target events. In the afternoon the 100 handicap targets will be loosed for the Dixie handicap championship.

These are some of the expert clay-busters now holding forth in the big three-day shoot of the Atlanta Gun club, which comes to a close today with the shooting of the Dixie handicap. At the upper left is Harry Lanier, crack shot from Augusta, who is state champion among the trap shooters and who won the Dixie singles event Tuesday at the gun club. The group in the center consists of, left to right, Dr. Thad Crockett, of Thomasville; W. H. Letton, of Atlanta; Charley Skinner, of Waynesboro. At the right is A. M. Perkins, who came all the way from Baton Rouge, La., to enter the shoot. The two some at the bottom consists of, left, Arthur Cusack, professional marksman from Tampa, Fla., and right, another Louisianan, W. S. Taylor, of Shreveport, who was runner-up in the Dixie singles event.

Lester Bell Joins Braves In Big Deal

Boston Gives Cards $20,000 and Player for Star Third Sacker.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 20.—(AP)—The Boston Braves engineered their second spectacular trade of the year tonight when they gave Third Baseman Andy High and $20,000 to the St. Louis Cardinals for Lester Bell, star third baseman.

Rogers Hornsby, captain of the Braves, was largely instrumental in bringing Bell to the team. Bell was one of the star players of the National league under Hornsby in 1926.

The Cardinals waived Eddie Moore, the Braves' all-around man, who is holding down a regular berth in the outfield this season, but Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the club, refused to part with him.

Ricketts Elected.
Annapolis, Md., March 20.—(AP)—Midshipman Claude V. Ricketts, of McCune, Kansas, was elevated captain of the 1929 Naval Academy boxing team today, naval athletic authorities announced. Ricketts is a middleweight and will succeed Barcol Gerin, intercollegiate welterweight champion, who was elected last year.

Midshipman Richard R. Ballinger, of San Francisco, was chosen manager for the coming season.

Davis Cup Tryouts Start at Augusta

BY WHITNER CARY.

Constitution Staff Correspondent.
Bon Air Vanderbilt Hotel, Augusta, Ga., March 20.—The combination of Arnold Jones and William T. Tilden this afternoon put somewhat of a damper on the hopes of George Lott and John Hennessy as a prospective doubles team in the invasion of Mexico by winning a five-set encounter from them by the score of 3-6, 6-1, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4. Although not scheduled originally as a test match it was decided today to give official recognition to this encounter.

As it had generally been believed that Lott and Hennessy were among the strongest for the contenders for places on the team and that their chances as a doubles team were particularly bright, the defeat by Tilden and Jones came somewhat as a surprise.

The match while at times showing streaks of brilliant tennis was on the whole nothing to get wildly excited about. Hennessy was extremely erratic on his ground strokes and both he and Lott were rather sluggish in getting to the net. Tilden at times pulled off some of his great shots, but on many occasions he showed erratic tendencies. His best work of the afternoon was on sharp angled volleys. Time after time he caught Lott and Hennessy flat footed by some uncanny volley that glanced off at an almost unbelievable angle.

Arnold Jones, who this year is ranked as No. 6, really played the best tennis of the four. If he continues to show the best of these informal affairs was the one in which John Doeg and Bud Chandler split two sets.

Chandler is really playing very good tennis, in fact some critics believe that his showing here during the last two days with the exception of Tilden's has been the best of the bunch.

Doeg, who is inclined to be erratic on his returns, was sending over his famous cannon ball service with telling effect. If any one feature of the play of the stars gathered here has captured the crowd more than any other it is this terrific service of the young Californian. It is recognized as the hardest delivery in the game and once seen this statement is easy to believe.

With two days of practice now put behind the squad will get down to real business. Wednesday will be featured by a series of team matches. Tilden has divided the squad into two teams, A and B. On A team is found Hennessy, Lott, Jones, Doeg and Allison, while the B combination consists of Tilden, Chandler, Brown, Shields and Coen.

The schedule for Wednesday calls for the following encounters. Coen vs. Doeg, Jones vs. Brown, Shields vs. Allison, Chandler vs. Lott, Tilden vs. Hennessy, Jones and Doeg vs. Chandler and Brown, Tilden and Coen vs. Lott and Hennessy.

These team matches were arranged to help give an additional line on the ability of all the players. That Tilden is trying his best to select the four players who are showing the best form at the present time is shown from the elaborate series of test matches arranged and by a talk given the squad last night by Big Bill. At this meeting the tall Philadelphian made it plain that the selection would be based on results of these test matches and this alone and that no place, even his own, was certain at this time.

BUNION DERBY ENTRANTS PASS 600-MILE POST

Holbrook, Ariz., March 20.—(AP)—Runners in the 3,400 mile cross-country foot race passed the 600-mile post today, trotting into Holbrook behind Earle Lin Dikis, of Newcastle, Pa., who won the seventeenth lap over a distance of 34.3 miles from Winslow in five hours and 12 minutes.

Peter Garuzzi, Southampton, England, came in second, followed in order by Richard Thomas, Oakland, Calif.; Henry Swabey, Ontario; John Cronick, Saskatoon, Sask.; William Busch, Boston; Voight Houfsteater, Manistee, Mich.; Arne Souminen, of Detroit; Olli Vantinen, New York, and John Salo, Passaic, N. J. Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., who took first place in the derby on the basis of elapsed time when Arthur Newton, 44-year-old Englishman, was forced out yesterday by a sprained ankle, failed to finish among the first 14 today. He was bothered with tonsillitis and officials doubted his ability to keep up the grind.

Violent Stock Speculations For Advances Is Continued

Is expected to announce a recapitalization plan next month, soared 18 points to a new high record at 253, making a gain of 48 1-4 points in two days. Victor Talking Machine convertible preferred stock jumped 13 1-2 points to 155 and the common advanced 7 3-8 to 78 3-8, both new high records.

Others Show Gains.

Among the score or so issues to show net gains of 3 to 10 points were American Car and Foundry preferred, American International Corporation, American Linseed, A. M. Byers, Collins & Aikman, Du Pont, Electric Auto-Lite, General Cable, Gimbel Brothers, Midland Steel Production preferred, Russia Insurance and Kelsey-Hayes Wheel.

Concurrent strength of General Motors, General Electric, Electric Refrigeration and Savage Arms, the only listed stocks manufacturing electric refrigerators, was believed to be based in part on predictions of record-breaking spring and summer business.

Railroad shares failed to make much response to President Coolidge's statement that the railroad consolidation bill would be passed at this session of congress.

Rail Shares React.

Texas & Pacific jumped nearly 5 points to new high of 125 7-8, and then reacted to 123. New York Central, Delaware & Hudson, Lackawanna, Seaboard Air Line and a few others, all rose 1 or 2 points.

International Telephone and Mackay companies reacted sharply on the traditional "selling on the good news" basis. Telephone sold down 6 points to 157 and rallied to 159 3-4, and Mackay broke 10 1-2 points to 120 1-2, and then reacted to 119 1-2. Rumour of Illinois preferred, Fish R.

ber first referred and Mackay prepared, all showed net declines of 4 points.

Speculative interest in the commodity market was divided between the rally of a pound to nearly $2.30 a hole in cotton and the drop of about 2 cents in price in crude rubber futures.

Corn and rye advanced 1/2 to nearly 2 cents a bushel and wheat improved 1/2 to 1 cent. An advance in wheat was apparent in the coffee and sugar markets.

Sugar.

New York, March 20.—Spot raw sugar was unchanged today. Trading was less active. Sales were 13,000 bags of Cuban, April shipment, and 10,000 bags of Cuban, second half April shipment, at 4.61.

An easier undertone prevailed in raw futures today due to intensity in the cotton war.

and the circulation of March notices, final prices showing net losses of 3 to 6 points. The opening was unchanged to 3 points lower under liquidation, prompted by the issuance of 100 March notices and the easier London market. Shorts covered on this decline and there was a partial rally later, but the fact that refiners showed little interest in the spot market seemed to create belief that they had been fairly well supplied for the time being. Offerings increased in the late trading and prices eased off again, closing at Refined was unchanged at 5.80 to 5.85 for fine granulated. Withdrawals were of seasonal proportions, but new business was still light.

Coffee.

New York, March 20.—Coffee futures were lower today under further liquidation or trade selling, inspired by slightly easier Rio cables. Rio contracts opened at a decline of 3 to 25 points, but after selling off to 14.35 for May recovered partially. May closing at 14.68. The general market closed 3 to 15 points lower. San-
